Hearings On Basin Open Here Today

Two Cabinet Members Included Among Witnesses To Speak Before Meetings

Extended hearings by the Missouri Basin Survey commission will open in Lincoln Wednesday and continue throughout the week and into the opening days of next week.

The commission, headed by James E. Lawrence, editor of The Lincoln Star, will go into executive sessions at the Cornhusker Hotel Wednesday and Thursday, including both day and night sessions, to hear spokesmen and experts representing some of the Missouri Basin states, the Federal Power Commission and one or two other Federal agencies.

Public hearings will be held Friday and Saturday at the State House.

Among those who will appear before the Commission will be Gov. Val Peterson, representing the state's views; representatives of the Salt Wahoo Watershed Association and other watershed groups; representatives of Consumers Public Power District; Nebraska hydros; C. Petrus Peterson, past president of the National Reclamation Association and many others interested in resource and development in flood control program.

On Monday Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan will appear before the commission to outline his views in an executive session. The commission will also hear from Secretary of Interior Oscar L. Chapman, at a later date, speaking for the Bureau of Reclamation and General Lewis A. Pick of the Corps of Army Engineers.

United States Senator Thomas C. Hennings Jr. of Missouri, vice chairman of the commission, is expected to arrive in Lincoln early Wednesday.

Other legislative members of the commission who will be present for part or all of the hearings are Sen. Milton R. Young, N. D.; Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall, Colo.; Rep. Clifford R. Hope, Kan.

Omaha Witnesses

It appeared that Rep. James W. Trimble, Ark., might be unable to be present at this session of the commission.

The non-legislative members include F. T. Person, dean of the College of Engineering, University of Wyoming; Kenneth Holum, a member of the South Dakota Legislature; Harry J. Peterson of St. Paul, Minn., secretary of the Minnesota Association of Cooperatives; and Fred K. Heinkel of Columbia, Mo., president of the Missouri Farmers Association, an organization which includes 140,000 members.

Mayor Glen Cunningham of Omaha and other Omaha representatives will also attend the hearings.

Mr. Lawrence, chairman of the commission, will preside over the Nebraska hearings.

Refugees Permitted To Stay

Slav Rowing Team Gets Temporary Residence

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—Eight members of Yugoslavia's rowing team who decided against returning to their Communist-ruled country received temporary residence permits from the Hessian State Ministry of Interior Tuesday.

Ministry officials said the permits were valid only for a short period and added that a decision on the Yugoslavs' request for political asylum would be made later.

The Yugoslavs said they intend to remain in Europe only long enough to earn money and permission to emigrate to Canada.

He and his Iranian soldier-driver sped away while police, swinging clubs, waded into the mob of 100 who had been yelling "Emricaie gom-show"—literally Americans get lost.

Troops were called out Tuesday night for the first time since martial law was lifted last week.

Allied Troops Repulse Attack On Bunker Hill

SEOUL (Wednesday) (AP)—Allied troops early today repulsed a five-minute Communist assault against bloody Bunker Hill on the Western Korean front.

The Reds prepared for the assault with an artillery and mortar barrage against Allied troops dug in along the ridgetop. U. S. Marines won the hill last week after a savage fight.

The battlefront was quiet Tuesday in the wake of a typhoon which blew across the peninsula and into the Sea of Japan.

The Eighth Army said Allied ground troops inflicted 3,134 casualties on the Reds in the week ended Thursday. This included 1,745 killed, 1,375 wounded and 14 captured—the highest weekly toll in two months. The rate was boosted by the sharp fighting for Siberia and Bunker Hills.

B-26 bombers attacked Red positions along the front last night. B-29 Superforts dropped leaflets over military targets warning Korean civilians to leave the areas for their own safety.

Banker Giannini Is Dead In Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—Lawrence M. Giannini, president of the Bank of America, died at San Francisco's Franklin Hospital Tuesday night. He was 57.

Death was attributed by his physician either to an acute heart attack or embolism following a series of illnesses and complications.

He was the son of the late Amadeo P. Ginannini, founder of the Bank of America, largest private bank in the world.

'Spotlights' Puzzle CV Residents

Several College View residents were puzzled Tuesday night over what was described by one person as "spotlights in the sky with no beams."

The lights caused a mild deluge of telephone calls to The Lincoln Star.

One College View resident, who declined to be identified, said that five or six persons saw the lights over College View about 8:45.

The lights would traverse back and forth, from north to south, covering about a two to three block area, the resident said.

He said the "lights" resembled a white blur and were egg-shaped—but doubted that they were flying saucers.

A Raymond resident said the lights there, which appeared to be over Lincoln, looked like spotlights. She said she could see beams reaching almost to the ground.

Police could shed no light on the mystery. The Naval Reserve and the Organized Army Reserve reported that they had no operations underway involving searchlights.

Beginning September 1, he will carry out research and teach courses in the university's motion picture and television section.

At the University of Nebraska, Dr. Mercer has directed the production of filmstrips and motion pictures, including "Irrigation in Nebraska" and "Seed Certification in Nebraska" which were selected for foreign translation and release through the Mutual Security Administration.

Dr. Mercer received his bachelor's degree with distinction from the University of Nebraska, and in July was awarded the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in educational psychology.

A member of the Nebraska Academy of Sciences, the Society of Motion Picture and Television Engineers, and secretary-treasurer of the University Film Producers Association for two years, he was one of four students in the country in 1950 to win research fellowships in the film research program at Pennsylvania State College.

LANDER, Wyo. (AP)—Fifty Indians from the Wind River Reservation were recruited Tuesday to fight a forest fire on the Wiggins fork of the Shoshone National Forest, north of Dubois.

The fire has been burning since Monday noon and is still out of control. The area is 15 miles from the nearest road and is difficult to reach.

Swedish Press Irked By Margaret's Bodyguards

... Washington Denies Any Stockholm Incident

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The Swedish Foreign Office began an investigation Tuesday of Margaret Truman's right to have three American bodyguards in Sweden.

The three have been accused in the press here of roughing up Swedish citizens, and their presence has caused considerable indignation among the Swedes.

The president's daughter has been in Sweden since Sunday on a European tour.

In Washington, the State Department issued a statement saying it had been in communication with the American Embassy in Stockholm "which reports there was no incident such as was reported by the Swedish newspapers."

"The Swedish Foreign Office has denied there was an incident," the statement said. "The State Department expects further report tomorrow morning from the embassy concerning what gave rise to the excitement."

Life Not In Danger

Sweden's largest newspaper, Aftonbladet, commented sarcastically Tuesday night "Miss Truman is not in danger of her life in Stockholm . . . we understand that she is not going to sing here."

Newspapers were particularly indignant over alleged mistreatment of Swedish reporters and photographers.

Then the foreign office got into the act Tuesday on the question of the bodyguards' right to carry arms in this country. This has caused considerable resentment in this city where even the police are traditionally unarmed.

"We have received no application from the U. S. Embassy for such a gun permit," a spokesman declared.

"We are now looking into the matter to find out what powers the FBI agents have."

In Washington, the bodyguards were identified as Secret Service agents who are assigned by the Treasury Department to protect the President of the United States and his family.

Three Important Positions Of Court Stressed By Judge

During the lifetime of Lincoln's Municipal Court, established in 1925, the court has come to occupy three important positions in the community, Municipal Court Judge John Jacobson said Tuesday night.

Addressing the Axis Business and Professional Women's Club at the YWCA, he summarized the positions as the judicial, economic or business and human relations fields.

In the routine business of the court, Judge Jacobson said it handled an average of 40 to 50 cases a day. In the economic phase he expects the court to hear litigations totaling $175,000 this year.

"As a 'people's court'—it deals with all types of individuals and classes—" continued the judge. "It is an important factor in molding the attitudes of the people towards courts, government and society in general."

Revised Spending Budget Offers A Brighter Picture

President's Statement Estimates U.S. Will Collect Less And Spend Less In Current Year

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Truman Tuesday estimated the government will spend less, collect less taxes and run up a smaller deficit in the current fiscal year than he thought in January.

One exception to this downward revision: Individual income taxes will run higher than expected. Corporation taxes will fall far below earlier estimates.

The President cut his estimate of the budget deficit—the amount the government will go in debt in the year ending next June 30—from $14,400,000,000 to $10,300,000,000, a drop of $4,100,000,000.

Totals Still Towering

But the cuts, announced in a detailed statement, still left all totals towering over 1952 federal expenses, intake and deficits.

This year's government spending now is figured at 79 billion dollars, compared with the 85½ billions Truman estimated in January.

Receipts now are estimated at $68,700,000,000 in place of the January estimate of 71 billions.

The new outgo figure, 6½ billions less than previously estimated, was still the biggest budget ever except for the 1943-45 fiscal years of all-out war.

Truman reported direct taxes on corporations now are expected to yield $24,800,000,000—three billion dollars less than he expected in January.

He gave two reasons for this change: 1. Corporation profits were less than expected in 1951 and 1952, and, 2. Tax laws passed in 1950 and 1951 haven't brought in revenue at the hoped-for rate.

Truman said direct taxes on individuals now are expected to bring in 33½ billion dollars, about a half-billion more than the January estimate.

In the revised budget, about 74 per cent of government spending is earmarked for direct or indirect defense purposes. This is only 2 per cent less than the January figures indicated.

Fair To Partly Cloudy Today; Not So Warm

With northeast Nebraska receiving an inch-plus soaking early Tuesday morning along with showers in the southeast section over the week end, the weatherman now predicts some real "corn growing" weather coming up.

Wednesday is expected to be partly cloudy with scattered thunderstorms or showers in the east and south. Thursday will be fair in the west and partly cloudy in the east with scattered showers in the southeast.

It will be cooler in the west and north Wednesday, turning cooler in the southeast Wednesday afternoon. Highs will range near 90 in the extreme southeast and in the 80s elsewhere.

Ahead Of Schedule

Although Nebraska's corn crop still needs more rain, the state's basic crop is maturing somewhat faster than normal, according to the State-Federal Agricultural Statistics Division in Lincoln.

Little precipitation is expected, reports the extended weather forecasts.

For the next five days, the Weather Bureau predicts only one-fourth to one-half an inch of rain is likely in the eastern section of Nebraska and less elsewhere.

High Winds

The heavy rains falling in the northeast section, southeastward to Omaha, were accompanied by high winds early Tuesday morning. Streets in the northern part of Omaha were littered with fallen limbs and traffic was rerounted on several streets.

Winds reaching 73 miles an hour were recorded in Omaha where 1.29 inches of rain fell.

Other points reporting heavy rainfall: Anoka 1.50, Emerson, 1.36, Newman Grove 1.28, Creighton, 1.25, Walthill 1.15, Tekamah 1.13 and O'Neill 1.02.

Cherry County's Livestock Value 2nd In Nation

(By the Associated Press)

Cherry County in Nebraska ranked second in the nation in livestock valuation in 1950. It was topped only by Los Angeles, Calif.

Total value of livestock on American farms increased by three billion dollars from 1945 to 1950, according to the Department of Commerce in its 1950 Livestock Census.

American farms disclosed a total value of $11,667,311,836. This included such livestock as cattle and calves, sheep, horses and mules and chickens.

The census bureau estimated Cherry County's livestock valuation at 31.1 million dollars.

Among the nation's top 100 counties in livestock valuation were Custer, Cuming, Holt and Sheridan, all in Nebraska.

Diphtheria Epidemic Is Spreading

22 Cases Now Under Treatment In State

ARNOLD, Neb. (AP)—An Arnold diphtheria epidemic is no longer confined to that community, an official of the Arnold Hospital said Tuesday.

"There are cases halfway to Gothenburg and North Platte," he said.

One Arnold, Neb., youngster has already died of the disease.

None Here

"Of the 22 cases now under treatment, 19 are children. The three adults are not seriously ill," he reported.

Members of the state health board were expected here to help fight the disease, the hospital spokesman said.

No cases have been reported to the Lincoln-Lancaster County Health Department this year.

GI Stoned At Teheran

... By Communists

TEHERAN, Iran (AP) — Communist youths stoned an American Army sergeant Tuesday, and Tuesday night battled army troops and police with knives and rocks in the heart of Teheran before being dispersed with tear gas.

Nearby, the headquarters of the Communist partisan peace organization were set ablaze and the flames lit up the sky over the capital. At the same time police said they had been told the building housing a Communist newspaper was on fire. The flames were quickly brought under control.

The cause of the fires was not immediately determined, but there has been a series of nightly clashes between the Reds and members of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's Nationalist party.

Sgt. James Hagan of Atlanta, Ga., was stoned in his jeep on one of the capital's busiest corners Tuesday morning. He was grazed by one stone, but was not injured.

3 Nebraska Scouts Save 2 Boys From Colorado Mountain

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (INS) — Three Nebraska Boy Scouts did their day's "good deed" by rescuing two boys from a 300-foot rock near Colorado Springs.

The Scouts, Jack Vincent, Boys Smith and Francis Nickerson, all of Oshkosh, said they "just climbed up and brought them down, that's all."

The boys were enroute to Philmont National Scout Camp at Cimmaron, N.M., when they saw Joe Trujillo and Bill Hutchinson atop the east gateway rocks in the colorful Garden of the Gods.

Cooperating Against Nature:

Volunteers Aid Yutan Farm Cleanup

By JOHN SWANSON
Star Staff Writer

YUTAN, Neb.—Not even the effects of nature on her worst rampages can stand long in the face of willing and cooperating hands.

This was shown near here Tuesday when residents of at least three towns and cities and scores of more fortunate farmers converged on the strip of farmland ravaged by last Wednesday's tornado and cleaned up debris.

Tuesday morning some half dozen farms located in the tornado strip southwest of here were just as they had been left by the rampaging winds. Boards, large timbers and household and farming equipment were strewn over field and farmstead. That evening most of the wreckage lay in neat piles or had been carted away.

Launched through the efforts of the Yutan Grange and volunteer fire department and led chiefly by Yutan's mayor H. H. Peters, the volunteer clean-up battalion worked throughout the day at the following places:

The Ferdinand Witte, George Kuhr, Otto Storms, Harry Parmenter, Delmar Prince, W. C. Miller and Francis Karloff farms. By noon, when the crew knocked off for a big dinner at the Louis Karloff farm, the number of volunteers had swollen to about 300.

Tuesday the main street of Yutan was deserted; merchants had closed shop and had gone to clean up debris. Other workers came to the scene from Fremont and from Omaha.

Members of the Grange earlier had collected more than $1,500 to aid the tornado victims by setting up fund collection stands at country crossroads along the tornado's path.

Double Dollar Days Being Offered By Lincoln Merchants

Lincoln's downtown merchants have added a new twist to their big semi-annual customer attraction.

And that is Double Dollar Days. The crowd-drawing event is scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 20-21.

For a long time, the merchants have been setting aside one day each six months when all goods carry price tags of $1 or multiples of $1. Dollar Day is known all over the state. Now however, customers will have two days instead of one in which to get as much for their money as possible.

"Customers will have double opportunity to save money," said Tom Healey Sr., chairman of the Double Dollar Days committee. Downtown stores will be open from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Wednesday and from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Thursday. No matter what Mr. and Mrs. John Buyer, and all the little Buyers, are looking for, they will find it at reduced prices.

Healey expects the Double Dollar Days crowds will be "tremendous." The crowds gets "bigger every year," he said.

There will be free bus service to the downtown area from 9:15 to 11:15 a.m. on both days and from 5:30 to 7 p.m. on Thursday.

Lincoln's big special-saving sale will be the 28th semi-annual event. Except during the war years, the event has been held every February and August.

Proper Papers Needed:

Getting Married Today No Simple Task

By TOM RISCHE
Star Staff Writer

Getting married isn't as simple as it used to be.

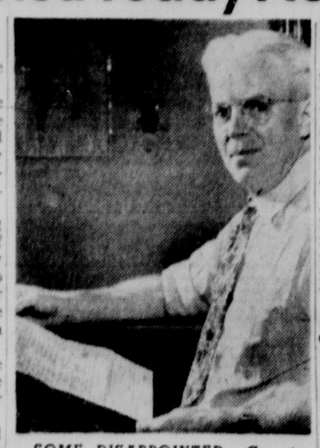
Back in the old days, when Joe Caveman saw a girl he liked, he just grabbed her by the hair and dragged her off to his cave. By and by, someone invented marriage, and finally, the marriage license.

But even the license is getting more complicated. Any number of young couples, dreaming eagerly of becoming married, have to postpone their dreams a day or more because they cannot produce the proper papers to obtain a marriage license.

According to Clerk of the County Court Ray Cronan, there are three main requirements for getting a license:

1. The couple must be married in the county in which they get the license.

2. They must have their parents notarized consent if they are under 21. No licenses, even for a shotgun wedding, can be issued to boys under 18 or girls under 16.



SOME DISAPPOINTED—County Court Clerk Ray Cronan disappoints prospective brides and grooms who fail to have the proper papers to get a marriage license. (Star Photo.)

No licenses can be issued to a white person who is marrying another who is at least one-eighth Negro, Japanese, or Chinese.

3. They must have a premartial blood test which can be obtained from any doctor, who send the blood specimens to state laboratories for examination.

This part of the requirement usually causes most trouble, for Nebraska does not recognize blood test certificates from a number of states. At least one laboratory in each state is accredited, but Nebraska accepts the certificates of only 17 states in full:

Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, New Hampshire, New Jersey, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Utah and Wyoming.

Blood test certificates from seven other states are accepted if enough details are filled in to meet with state requirements:

Alabama, Alaska, California, Kansas, Pennsylvania, Vermont, and West Virginia.

Armed Forces installations can usually give tests to meet Nebraska requirements. The prospective bride or groom must wait until their blood test is completed before they can get a license.

Many young couples have had to postpone their weddings because they forgot, or neglected to check Nebraska requirements for obtaining a marriage license.

250,000 Flee Reds Annually

D.P. Commission Makes Last Report

By WILLIAM UMSTEAD

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Displaced Persons Commission said Tuesday about 250,000 persons risk terror and death each year in successful efforts to cross the Iron Curtain into the free world.

The Commission reported that these quarter-million "refugees from Communism" find safety despite strengthened border guards and other Red restrictions designed to prevent the exodus from Soviet nations.

In a final report on its activities before going out of existence Aug. 31, the commission urged that the refugees be provided with adequate reception facilities and "leadership education and training" to fit them for Western life.

The agency reported that almost 400,000 "victims of war and aggression" have been resettled in the United States since World War II. It said the DP program proved that "immigration is good" for the U. S. and is "an important and vital part" of the nation's foreign policy.

The Commission stressed that despite this success, there are still two major problems to be solved in the interests of a peaceful world, besides the problem of taking care of refugees from communism. It said these problems have "barely been touched" so far.

DPC listed them as "the tragic condition of over-population in Europe" and "the unfinished business within the Displaced Persons Act itself."

The Commission recommended U. S. co-operation with other free nations to promote migration to underdeveloped nations or other countries whose economies can be strengthened with "new blood." It also urged creation of a special emergency agency to administer the program.

The "unfinished business" referred to by the commission concerns some 50,000 displaced persons who have received visas under the DP program but who cannot enter the U. S. because quotas are filled.

$1,500 Settlement

Richard Yager, a carpenter with the Anderson Construction Company, was awarded $1,500 under terms of a lump settlement approved in District Court. Yager claimed 30 per cent permanent partial disability to his right hand as the result of an April 10 accident.

TAKING NO CHANCES—Because it still "leaks" a little and the coffee cans set to catch the drips might be full, Betty Mines, 2910 O, takes refuge under an old fashioned "bumbershoot" before she inspects the "hole" in the ceiling of the State Banking Department office, down the corridor from where she is employed at the State Capitol. (Star Photo.)

Plaster 'Showers' Fall On First Floor Of Capitol; Repair Work To Start Soon

It was shades of the Walls of Jericho when the plaster came tumbling down—big hunks, that is.

It was plaster from the ceiling—not a "first event" of its type—in offices on the first floor of the State Capitol that is in much need of repair.

But employes in the State Banking Department offices in the northeast corner of the ground floor were speculating whether they should wear protective steel battle helmets during working hours. They were prompted by a recent "downfall" of plaster from their office ceiling which left a hole about four feet square.

The plaster, which gave way after improper water drainage from the terrace above softened it, split and cracked in all directions in the ceiling after working hours Monday. No one was hurt.

Officials in the Capitol are about to get the terrace in shape again so there is no such repeat performance.

Bids have already been advertised for reconstruction work on the terrace and their opening set for Aug. 27.

State Engineer Harold Aitken said officials have prepared detailed plans and specifications for the reconstruction work, which when complete, he expects will bring the terrace in "fine shape."

Farm Program Cut And End To Korean War Asked By Curtis

Rep. Carl T. Curtis presented to Lincoln Chamber of Commerce guests Tuesday afternoon an agenda for congressional action in January calling for an end to the Korean War, a reduction in the federal farm program and a "middle of the road" defense program.

The congressman said he was "appalled" at the attitude taken by most people on the Korean War. He referred to the men fighting in Korea as a "forgotten group of Americans."

Instead of being accepted as a matter of fact thing, said Curtis, the Korean War must be given the fullest and prior attention of everyone in the country.

'Level Off'

On the farm program, Curtis stated that if the program now being carried out is successful it must be helping others to help themselves and would, therefore, level itself off in the next few years. There must be a general reduction, he said, in the farm program.

Outlining another point for prior consideration by Congress in January, "regardless of who is elected," Curtis reasoned it appears "we will have to have quite a defense program for some time."

However, he cautioned, it must not be so burdensome as to destroy the nation's economy and the very principles sought to be defended.

Research Stressed

Strict attention must be given to research in any defense program, he said, and the nation must be ready at all times to swing into an all-out defense program.

Listed fourth in importance by Curtis was a revision in the budget system. Reduce spending, yes, said Curtis, but also revise the general taxation, appropriation and spending setup

Fifth on the priority list was an "orderly reduction" in the size and number of governmental departments. This, said Curtis, can be accomplished without putting anyone out of work but merely by not filling vacancies.

The congressman also told the group that soil conservation was the best approach to flood control. Conservation, he said, must be developed along lines proposed in Nebraska for the Salt-Wahoo watershed with federal and local funds and complete local control.

7 Directors To Amendment Group Named

The Nebraskans "For" the Six Constitutional Amendments named seven new board members and elected John Quinn, Lincoln, as executive director at a meeting held Tuesday at the Cornhusker Hotel..

A non-political group, the Nebraskans are undertaking an educational program to insure passage of the six constitutional amendments on the November ballot.

Other officers include William N. Mitten, president of the Nebraska State Bankers' Association, Fremont, as secretary-treasurer and Richard Marvel, state senator from Hastings, as first vice-president.

Earlier, Sen. Earl L. Lee of Fremont, chairman of the non-political group, announced the appointment of seven directors who include the following:

William Mitten, banker, Fremont.
Paul C. Huston, president of the Nebraska Real Estate Association, Grand Island.
David Martin, chairman of the Nebraska Republican State Central Committee, Kearney.
William H. Meir, chairman of the Nebraska Democratic State Central Committee, Minden.
Gordon C. Preble, labor leader, Omaha.
Gene Kemper, editor, Alliance.
Russell Brehm, director of the Nebraska County Officials Association, Lincoln.

Other civic leaders will be added to the board of directors as soon as they accept appointment.

State senators, who played an important role in the introduction and passage of the six constitutional amendments, met with Lee Tuesday. They are senators Karl Vogel of Omaha, John McKnight, Auburn; Glenn Cramer, Albion; and Richard Marvel, Hastings.

Lee said the group hopes to reach all civic groups in the state by the means of an educational film showing how the amendments were passed by the legislature and the benefits the constitutional amendments would provide.

Surveys in Lincoln, Alliance, and Scottsbluff have resulted in more than 50 bookings for the movie, which was filmed in Lincoln Tuesday.

The proposed non-political amendments would:

1. Create a State Board of Education which would appoint a state commissioner to take the place of the state superintendent who is elected under the present law.
2. Reduce the number of times that proposed amendments shall be published.
3. Authorize the Legislature to provide a different method of taxing motor vehicles.
4. Permit compensation of all members of a court, board or commission to be changed at the beginning of a full term of any member of the body.
5. Increase legislator's salaries from $872.09 annually to $1,250.
6. Provide that details of a constitutional convention could be determined by the legislature.

Sen. Pizer Votes For Special Meet

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—Sen. Harry Pizer of North Platte said Tuesday he had voted for the calling of a special session to raise emergency highway funds in the poll now being taken by Gov. Val Peterson.

Pizer, who represents Frontier and Lincoln Counties, said he voted "yes" on both questions put by the governor.

One was whether a special session should be called to raise highway funds and the other was whether in the event there has to be a special session on hog indemnities, the call should also include highways.

Bids for painting the outside of the Courthouse have been called for by the Lancaster County Commissioners.

The Commissioners said bids would be received until Sept. 2 for painting windows, doors, screens and down spouts with two coats of paint. Metal roof caps will be covered with metal primer. County Engineer Louis W. Weaver estimated the job would cost about $5,445.

State Income On Insurance $2,162,599

Nebraska's Department of Insurance had a net income of $2,162,599.78 for the period Jan. 1 to June 30 of this year, according to Director Loren Laughlin's semi-annual report sent to Gov. Val Peterson.

The department had total disbursements of $65,279.29 for the six month period and a total income of $2,227,879.07, the report said.

Taxes on premiums accounted for the greater part of the income—$2,106,113.99. Second big item was income of $69,387 from agent licenses, agent certifications and broken certificates. Salaries and traveling expenses were included in disbursements.

Rites Held In East For Mrs. Bagley

A former Lincoln resident, Mrs. Florence Winger Bagley, died Aug. 12 in New Brunswick, N. J., and burial was in Connecticut, according to word received here.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Winger. Mr. Winger was an early Lincoln merchant. Mrs. Bagley spent her early life in Lincoln until graduating from the University of Nebraska about 1887. She was also a graduate of Cornell University at Ithaca, N. Y.

In 1901 she married William C. Bagley who died in 1946.

Surviving is one son, William C. Bagley; one sister, Mrs. S. M. True, Denver; and two brothers, M. I. Winger, Oak Park, Ill., and J. Wilson Winger, Keokuk, Ia.

Court Awards $4,000 Judgment To Kite

A $4,000 judgment has been awarded William N. Kite and Keep-U-Neet Cleaners against a company employe who was charged with "wrongfully appropriating to his own use property of his employer." Judge John Polk entered the judgment through Attorney Ralph Slocum, as trustee. The petition named John B. Janecek as the employe. The money allegedly was taken over a period of about four years.

State Record Of 538 Polio Cases 'Seven Weeks Ahead' Of 1949 As Trend Declines

Although a slight drop in number of polio cases reported last week was shown over the previous week, the total cases for 1952 now stands at 538, compared to 136 at this date a year ago.

The most severe epidemic in the state since 1949, the records now are "seven weeks ahead" of that year on the graph kept by Dr. E. S. Rogers, acting state health director.

However, the peak of the polio season in 1949 was reached in September, and with the current slight decline in weekly case reports, the peak is expected in August of this year and then "gradually taper off."

The State Health Department reported 114 new cases of polio for the week ending Aug. 16, a reduction of 12 from the 126 cases reported for the preceding week.

As Lancaster County's polio count reached 86 Tuesday, another hospital added a polio wing of 8 beds.

3 In New Ward

Bryan Memorial Hospital already reports three cases under care in the new ward. Only once before—in 1948's epidemic—has the hospital added the special ward.

Four of Lincoln's new cases, under treatment at home, were reported in "very good" condition. They are:

Tommy Kerl, 9, 2129 Euclid.
Tommy Nearhood, 10 months, 943 So. 9th.
Tommy Mason, 12, 1832 So. 49th.
Coral Wiss, 3-and-a-half, 2036 Harrison.

Three others are unofficially reported under treatment for polio. They are Patricia Curtis, 15, 1643 Q; Donald Hendy, 26, 1320 E; and Robert Matthewson, 27, 2501 Dudley.

Dale and Janice Sutter, children of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Sutter of 654 No. 35th, were hospitalized in Knoxville, Tenn. with polio. The Sutters were on vacation at the time the children became ill. Janice reportedly has bulbar polio.

An out-of-county patient in a Lincoln hospital, Mrs. Gladys Schleifer, 22, of Chester, is in "good" condition.

Lancaster County reported 24 cases developing last week, and Douglas County, 20.

A County break-down of polio figures:

Cedar, 9; Thurston, Dakota and Dodge, 5; Sarpy, Johnson and Cuming, 4; Wayne, 3; Burt, Cass, Dawson, Platte, Polk, Red Willow and Saline, 2 each.
Adams, Antelope, Boone, Butler, Cherry, Dixon, Gage, Harlan, Jefferson, Kearney, Madison, Merrick, Otoe, Pawnee, Saunders, Thayer, and Washington, one each.

Lincoln Youth Fined $20 For Fighting, Exposure

A 21-year-old Lincoln youth was fined $10 and costs each on charges of disturbing the peace by fighting and of indecent exposure after he allegedly blacked the eye of a tavern manager early Tuesday morning.

Dale E. Markel of 706 Marshall pleaded guilty to both complaints in Municipal Court Tuesday.

Markel exposed himself in a storeroom at the back of the tavern instead of the men's room, the court was told. The fight started when the manager tried to eject him after the alleged incident.

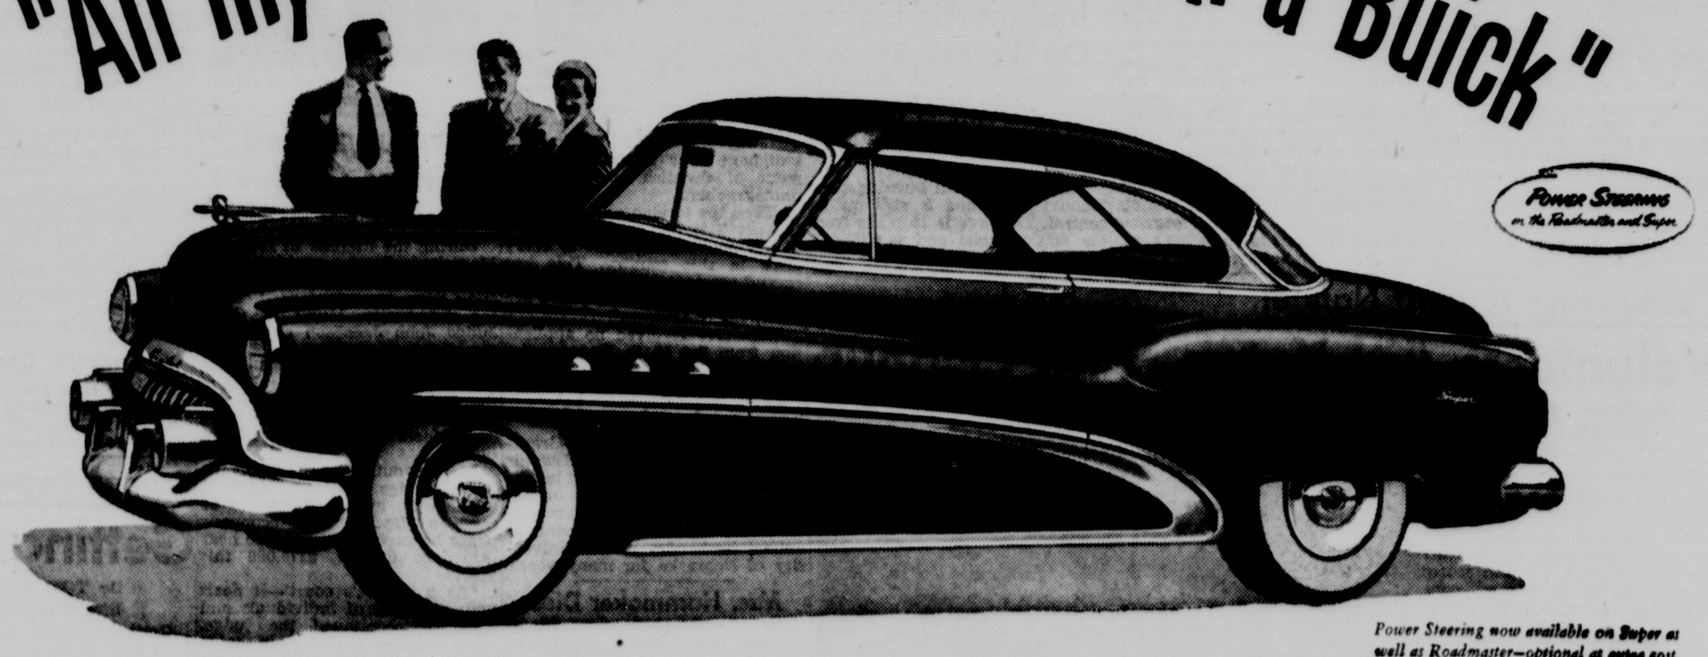
"All my life I've wanted to own a Buick"



Power Steering now available on Super as well as Roadmaster—optional at extra cost.

IT seems that owning a Buick is something that a lot of folks dream about—plan for—and finally do.

We say that because, so many times, they say so in words like those above.

Those words make us happy, of course—happy to know we sell a car which means so much to those who own it.

But they make us feel just a little bit sad as well—sad to realize all the years of fun such folks have been missing for no good reason at all.

For the fact is this: If you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick.

You can afford the thrill of bossing around that big Fireball 8 Engine that purrs forth a mighty flow of power.

You can afford the gas bills—as any owner of a 1952 Buick will tell you—because that high-compression, valve-in-head marvel gets a lot of miles from a gallon of fuel.

You can afford the extra luxury of a real million dollar ride—the silken smoothness of Dynaflow Drive*—the extra room and comfort and style that have put Buick popularity right up at the top of the list, right next to the "low-priced three."

So if you want to own a Buick—there's just one thing to do:

Come in—pick the one of your choice—and let us show you how close the figure that goes on the bill of sale comes to what you'd pay elsewhere.

As we've said before, your first car can be a Buick. Why not take the Big Step now?

*Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Sure is true for '52

Business Leaders Confident Economy Can Operate Successfully On Higher Prices

NEW YORK — American business leaders are confident that the United States economy will be able to operate successfully at the higher price structure certain to result from the recent steel strike settlement.

This conclusion was reached after reports from Washington indicated that the Office of Price Stabilization will shortly issue a regulation permitting the nation's manufacturers to lift their ceiling prices to reflect increased costs of steel, copper and aluminum.

According to one top stabilization official, the contemplated order will permit manufacturers to pass on to their customers "something just under 100 per cent of their increased costs."

This came as welcome news to the business world since hitherto, OPS executives have been talking about allowing manufacturers to pass along only 40 per cent to 60 per cent of these costs, and making them absorb the rest.

In addition, there were indications that the new formula might permit manufacturers to take into account higher transportation costs as well as any wage increases they have paid out to their employes when they figure their new ceiling prices.

Stocks Hit Snag

The stock market had its first real setback in three months this past week, when profit-taking found stocks in a highly vulnerable position. For the period as a whole, the industrial average was down 32.47; the rails were off $1.28; and the utilities were down 46 cents.

Interestingly enough, very little selling was touched off by the decline. The worst price damage took place last Tuesday when the industrial average suffered its widest single day's drop since April 14, and yet volume amounted to only 1,110,000 shares.

In the remaining three sessions of the week, when prices moved irregularly lower, turnover fell below the 1,000,000 share mark each day.

As a result of the market's performance, the all-important question in Wall Street is whether or not the long summer rise which got under way last May 2nd has finally topped out.

Financial analysts pointed out that in the past, the traditional "hot weather" advance has usually been followed by an Indian summer decline which began late in August and carried over the fall months.

Oils Weaker

Whether the market decided to "jump the gun" last week and start its corrective movement ahead of schedule, is a point yet to be determined.

Incidentaly, one of the weaker groups last week was the oils, with many leaders showing substantial losses. The less optimistic viewpoint towards this division was influenced by the recent slash in heavy fuel oil prices along the Atlantic seaboard, and the realization that the forthcoming Labor Day holiday will mark the passing of the seasonal peak in gasoline demand by motorists.

On the industrial front, the nation's steel mills operated not far from capacity this past week. Operations were at 95.4 per cent of capacity with output of 1,981,000 tons of steel. In the preceding week, the industry operated at 89.8 per cent of capacity, with production of 1,866,000 tons of steel.

The automobile industry limped along at a subnormal pace last week with only 25,834 passenger cars and 11,259 trucks, for a total of 37,093 vehicles, coming off the assembly lines. The week before, 35,038 passenger cars and 8,917 trucks, for a total of 43,955 vehicles, were turned out.

According to Automotive News, there should be a sharp pick-up in output this week since all manufacturers will be back in operation for the first time since the steel-shortage layoffs began early in July.

One favorable offshoot of the curtailed production rate has been a decline in new car stocks in the hands of dealers to the lowest level since the end of World War II. Stocks of new cars around the country amounted to only 180,717 units at the start of this month, as against 277,962 in the preceding month, and 387,286 on Aug. 1, 1951.

Department store sales around the country in the week ended Aug. 9 perked up a bit and topped the 1951 level by 2 per cent. The week previous, sales were down 2 per cent from a year ago. The Atlanta district again led the nation with a rise of 11 per cent over last year, while New York City continued at the bottom of the list with a drop of 9 per cent.

Freight traffic showed further Aug. 9 when loadings totaled 782,- improvement in the week ended 171 cars, a decline of only 3.4 per cent from the same week a year ago. The week before, loadings totaled 732,920 cars, a drop of 9.9 per cent from the 1951 level.

Electric power output in the week ended Aug. 9 rose to a five-month peak at 7,495,322,000 kilowatt hours. This topped a year ago by 6 per cent. The week previous, production exceeded the 1951 level by 5.7 per cent.

National business failures in the week ended Aug. 7 took a sharp drop to 123, from 152 in the preceding week, and 149 in the comparable week a year ago.

Geneologist Finds Eden And New Wife Of Same Descent

LONDON — Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and his new wife, Clarissa Spencer-Churchill, have found out that they are cousins of a sort—specifically 17th cousins, once removed.

Geneologist John Ashbrooke Flower has made it known that he has traced the couple's common descent from Thomas Mowbray, ennobled by King Henry VI as first Duke of Norfolk.

Vehicles Face Requisition

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—Every motor vehicle in North Vietnam now faces requisition for use in fighting the expected big floods from the broad Red River.

The governor ordered the seizure, wherever necessary, of jeeps, cars, and trucks of all classes "during the period of the floods."

Drivers of the vehicles are required to help in the "defense of the dikes" to prevent the Red River sweeping into low-lying villages and towns and wiping out rice-fields. Heavy rains in Northern Indo-China are expected to continue until September.

Jap Face Expert Sees Ike Victory 'By Nose'

TOKYO — A Japanese who makes a living predicting people's futures by looking at their faces says Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will literally nose out his opponent, Gov. Adlai Stevenson, in the November election.

Dr. Ryushi Seki, after an intensive study of photographs of the Republican and Democratic candidates, declared Eisenhower will be the victor because he has a "strong and large nose and fierce eyes."

Seki, whose motto is "You have to face the facts of the face," is known as a physiognomist. He earned his doctor's title by completing a medical course.

Jap Firm Plans Mexican Venture

NAGOYA, Japan — A Japanese firm was reported to have approved a plan for setting up an automatic weaving machine company in Mexico in a joint Japanese-Mexican venture.

The Toyoda Automatic Weaving Company sent a director to Mexico recently. He was reported to have stated that the Mexican government will provide factory facilities if the Japanese firm supplies technicians and machine tools.

Voters' Approval Not Necessary

The significance of Director Dave Erickson's incubating plan to spend two million dollars to expand the facilities of the Lincoln city light plant may have escaped many readers.

★

In the event that Mr. Erickson succeeds in hypnotizing Mayor Victor Anderson and the other members of the council into giving Erickson the green light for his grandiose scheme, approval by the voters of this city of bonds issued to provide the necessary money (a general obligation bond is the exception) would not be necessary. All Mr. Erickson would have to do would be to issue revenue bonds, which, if approved by the council, need not be submitted to a popular vote.

★

The city hall's projected money needs are moving towards a disturbing figure. Not until the newly-appointed water commission, headed by Byron Dunn, reports, will the requirements of the water plant be known. It has been suggested that it may become necessary to spend possibly five million dollars to provide the people of Lincoln with an adequate water supply. That would cover the cost of an additional pipeline from Ashland, more wells and reservoir space, possibly larger mains in residential areas where the present mains are too small. But an abundant, dependable supply of water is something with which the public cannot quarrel. Whatever it costs, and there is some reason to believe that the five-million-dollar estimate is conservative, Lincoln must have protection in the matter of a water supply.

★

There isn't that kind of money over at the City Hall. After the newly-appointed water commission completes its studies and determines upon the steps to be taken to prevent a repetition of the unpleasantness experienced earlier in the summer when Mr. Erickson's water plant fell down on the job, the assumption is that without loss of time the community will proceed with water plant expansion. It cannot afford to adopt any other attitude. We thought there was ample water, many of us were shocked when we found out differently.

★

Certainly people who have spent a great deal of money on homes—business that has a heavy investment in air-conditioning—and property owners generally do not want to go into the uncertainties of another summer with the possibility that the first stretch of heat will bring a mandate for water rationing. The council can adopt two courses. It could finance expansion of the water plant with an issue of general obligation bonds or it could use the revenue bond which, as the name indicates, is underwritten only by the profits of the operation.

★

In connection with the water plant of Lincoln, if Mr. Erickson had been as far-sighted as he should have been, he would have set up a sinking fund in the 'thirties to finance the expansion which is now imperative. He knew that the city was growing and growing rapidly—that the residential sections were spreading out more and more—that new industry had come in to contribute to greater water needs—and finally, that other developments, notably air-conditioning, were placing an increasingly heavy load upon the city's water supply. Mr. Erickson simply did not look far enough ahead, or if he did, the supplemental facilities which he had planned at a cost of over $350,000 blew up in his face.

★

The water plant comes first. This dream of an electric empire may be dear to Mr. Erickson's heart but it is secondary in any sound program of improvement for Lincoln. We say that in both instances, provided he can get the council to go along with him on revenue bonds, it is not necessary to submit them to a vote. Fortunately the public is not quite that helpless. It still has the recall to defend itself against a council majority that seems to be putty in Mr. Erickson's hands.

Miracle In A Cornfield

You turn off the highway and down the little country road, leaving the road presently for the winding lane. Here you leave the car in the shade of a big cottonwood and walk slowly down the dusty road. You must walk slowly or you'll not see the pattern of last night's shower in the dust of the road . . . you'll not catch the fragrance of alfalfa in bloom across the way . . . you'll not feel the pleasant warmth of mid-August sun on the back of your neck . . .

You step easily over a slightly ditched edge, attempting in vain to escape the inevitable sandburr and devil's watermelon—and you are in the midst of one of the most commonplace and fundamental and exciting of the everyday elements of Midwestern rural existence. And what is exciting about a Nebraska cornfield, you ask. As ordinary as breakfast-table conversation and twice as dull . . .

Perhaps . . .

But walk slowly down the soft furrowed rows where recent irrigation has left the ground still damp underfoot. Pause a moment and look about you at the miracle that abounds here. Look up . . . the summer sky is blue overhead, with a few lazy white clouds. Look down . . . the earth is black and damp and vibrant in its very richness of fertility. Close your eyes and listen to the symphony of the breeze through the long rippling, rustling leaves. Inhale deeply of the sweet, growing smell . . .

Reach out your hand, then, and feel some of the firmness and weight and perfection of the corn itself, hanging heavy on the sturdy stalks. Take one ear between your hands and know that there are thousands like it down the long rows for as far as you can see . . .

Walk slowly back along the furrowed row, looking . . . listening . . . inhaling . . . feeling . . . remembering that your great-grandfather took this very soil from his government while the red man still built his campfire there along the river's edge . . . that he turned the sod and planted and harvested and found the land good. And that future generations would continue to till the soil and to plant with faith and to gather in a harvest of good living and a lifetime of contentment.

No Thanks, Gentlemen

A "news release" from Beverly Hills, Calif., carrying the title of "Hollywood Committee for Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy" and a list of movie notables on its letterhead, has reached this office. It is one of a series of similar communications which descended in recent weeks, for in a political campaign year a lot of individuals awake from their dormancy and take to the mails to express their ideas.

This "news release," however, is more explicit than most of its kind. It pleads for the re-election of Sen. McCarthy, who has his name once again before the voters of Wisconsin. It contains a particularly pointed paragraph midway in its diatribe:

"Every Stalin mouthpiece, every subversive pink, every fake liberal and every cowardly politician who quakes before these anti-American elements (the Communists) has taken it upon himself to accomplish one thing in the election campaign in 1952, namely to smear Sen. Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin."

Now there is a pretty sentence. It recalls to mind the words of the man who introduced the senator to a Lincoln audience—a very small audience which rattled in the open-air pavillion on the State Fair grounds a few months ago—when he observed that "every person who loves Communism hates Joe McCarthy and every person who hates Communism loves Joe McCarthy."

This is utter, vicious nonsense.

This newspaper has long opposed the tactics and techniques of the Wisconsin senator who has made a mockery of our legal traditions. This newspaper has never fallen into any of the categories listed in the "news release" as those who oppose Sen. McCarthy. This newspaper has proudly taken its place in the open, with no weasel words and no hemming or hawing, against the campaign of irresponsible distortion undertaken by the senator and against the dangers to American freedom inherent in McCarthyism. It has been joined—and every American can be proud of this fact—by every respectable organ of public opinion in the United States which opposes the technique of smear practiced by the Wisconsin senator.

What the McCarthyites fail to realize is that it is possible—nay, probable—to hate Communism and McCarthyism with equal vehemence.

Mother Nature's Extreme Role

When Texas entered upon the third week of blistering, unbroken heat, the news columns reported that the crop loss, chiefly cotton, was estimated at 68 millions.

That is a familiar story to the peoples of the Great Plains who have a great respect for Mother Nature. They know her full well in her most tender hours and her savage moods. There is little of compromise in Mother Nature's planning. She casts herself so frequently in the role of an extremist—a banquet one month and a famine the next—a flood figuratively one week and a drought shortly after.

One of the really arresting developments in this summer of 1952 centers upon the fact that areas which rarely experience drought have suffered serious losses. Chances are the reduced production in the Southwest, the South, the Southeast, and areas along the North Atlantic seaboard, due to extreme heat and lack of rainfall, will be more severe than the losses that accrue as a result of floods. The destruction of crops as a result of drought in Texas, portions of New Mexico, Oklahoma and Arkansas, Florida, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee and Kentucky, and Massachusetts and Maine, will run into the hundreds of millions of dollars.

Water is about the most precious resource there is.

And in all the planning and discussion, invariably the emphasis is on floods rather than attempts to offset the ravages of widespread drought.

From Little Kernels

Popcorn has entered politics. An enterprising popcorn salesman who supplies 5,000 of the nation's 21,000 movie theaters, in a moment of financial inspiration has ordered 20 million popcorn containers bearing pictures of Gen. Eisenhower and Gov. Stevenson. The idea, apparently, is that popcorn purchasers will select the package suiting their political leanings.

Note to poll-takers: Line up in the theaters to discover the leanings of the independent voter, who has to make a decision if he wants to eat.

DREW PEARSON

Preferential Primary Gives Voice To People

(Editor's Note: While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington - Merry - Go-Round is being written by guest columnists.)

By PAUL H. DOUGLAS
Senator From Illinois

WASHINGTON — The 1952 Democratic and Republican National Conventions are now a page in history. But for the first time more than 60,000,000 Americans have become intimately acquainted with such a page. Shamefully enough this page is not too clean.

Sen. Douglas

The candidates for the highest office in the land emerged from two gigantic jamborees. Those jamborees served as a false front for the back-room deals of a small group of political leaders.

Luckily, the 1952 conventions came forward with two fine candidates. However, several times in the past half-century Democratic and Republican bosses have blatantly disregarded the will of their party's rank and file. In one case, that of Warren G. Harding, a boss-selected candidate succeeded in becoming President. Everyone knows the result—the Teapot Dome scandal of 1923.

Although the two 1952 conventions came up with good candidates there are still many people who, rightly or wrongly, feel that they have been cheated out of a chance to vote for their first choice in November. Our democracy is today marred by the paradox of 60,000,000 "voteless" citizens in our nonprimary states. If all the people had the opportunity to vote in presidential primaries no one could ever rightly feel that he had been cheated out of a chance to vote for his man in November. Primaries enable the people to speak in clear and unmistakable terms as to whose name they want to see underneath their party's emblem.

Television has shown Americans everywhere that to make democracy live the present system of nominating presidential candidates must be reformed. But how? The ideal method is one of adopting a constitutional amendment which would permit Congress to set up a national primary. Such an amendment has been proposed by Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla). The Smathers proposal for a national primary is similar to the one suggested by Woodrow Wilson in 1912. I am a co-sponsor of the Smathers national-primary amendment and intend to do my utmost either to insure its passage, or a substantially similar amendment at the next session of Congress.

However, there are those who have a vested interest in the status quo and they may do everything in their power to block the Smathers amendment, or one like it. Should this prove to be the case, those of us who are backing the amendment may have to compromise with this group. I think we might then settle for the presidential-preference primary bill which Rep. Charles E. Bennett (D-Fla) and I introduced in the last session of Congress.

Our primary bill seeks to increase the number of primaries now held. Its passage would be an important step forward in our march toward a national presidential primary. It directs the attorney general to negotiate agreements with the states for the holding of preference primaries before July 1 of a presidential election year. The states are encouraged to enter into such agreements with the attorney general since, if they do, they will receive financial assistance for the use of their election facilities and services.

These agreements would provide for a payment which is limited to not more than 20 cents for each vote cast in a presidential-preference primary. The attorney general would be given the responsibility for carrying the bill's provisions into effect. In co-operation with the states, he could make such determinations as qualifying deadlines, primary dates, terms of agreements with the states, how binding the primaries are to be upon the delegates, etc.

Even though the preference primaries conducted under the sponsorship of the attorney general would not legally bind the national convention delegates to vote on all ballots for their state's presidential preference, they would serve as a strong persuasive influence on the delegates.

After watching the national conventions on television the people are, I believe, determined to get their rightful say in the selection, as well as the election, of the President of the United States. The people are increasingly refusing to be shunted aside in the nominating process. The grass-roots feeling for a national primary is tremendous. Let the voice of the people be heard!

MARQUIS CHILDS

Ike Ponders Decision On GOP Extremists

WASHINGTON—A great deal of irrelevant talk is already being heard this campaign about "control" of the Senate in relation to vacant Senate seats to be filled in November. This is irrelevant because control of the Senate in the most meaningful sense of that word does not necessarily go with either a Democratic or a Republican majority.

Naturally, Republicans in the Senate who have long been panting for committee chairmanships are eager to see their party take over. They want the rewards of power and privilege that go with those chairmanships.

But control for purposes of policy has rested in recent years with a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats. Repeatedly this coalition has blocked domestic measures sought by the Truman administration. That alliance has again and again outvoted the bloc of 20 to 25 northern Democrats.

In the lineup of the Senate, however, one significant fact is frequently ignored. The Southerners have almost without exception sustained the foreign policy initiated by the Truman administration for the containment of Communism in a global struggle to preserve the free nations. On foreign policy they have voted with their northern brethren and with Republicans in the internationalist, Eisenhower wing of that party. They have thus been part of a majority that has over-ridden the votes of such Republicans as Bricker of Ohio, Jenner of Indiana, Kem of Missouri, McCarthy of Wisconsin, Malone of Nevada and Watkins of Utah.

For Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican candidate for President, this should convey an important lesson, bearing not only on his chances for victory in November but on what he might do with that victory if he achieves it. On the eve of his swing into the South he might well do some soul-searching on the alignment in the Senate.

Eisenhower's chances for carrying any of the southern states look less good than they did just before the Democratic convention. The division in the Democratic party as between North and South appears to have been smoothed over for the time being, although there is no guarantee that the quarrel will not blaze up again in the campaign.

But whether candidate Eisenhower wins a single southern state or not, he can have the support as President after next January of most of the southern senators for what will be the base of his program—the leadership of the free world in a strong and constructive foreign policy. From 16 to 18 southern votes on major measures will mean that Eisenhower could carry through a program with the backing of what would, in effect, be a conservative alliance. This would include most Republicans and, even on the broad steps to implement foreign policy, most northern Democrats who have supported such a program.

The opposition would come from those same Republicans who have in the past voted against most of the measures intended to reconstruct the strength of the free world. These are the Republicans of the class of '46—Jenner, Kem, Watkins, McCarthy, etc.—now up for re-election.

Obviously, therefore, any effort by Eisenhower to help return these men to the Senate will be calculated in the long run to do to himself far more harm than good. The argument is being dinned into Eisenhower's ears at this moment, of course, that to fail to go into the states represented by these men and embrace them publicly will risk the loss of electoral votes vital to victory.

But, as others must certainly be telling him, there is another and greater risk involved. By embracing particularly the extremists—Jenner and McCarthy—the Republican nominee will put in jeopardy voters in two important categories. These are the minorities in the cities profoundly fearful of where McCarthyism will lead and independent voters who want a change but not at the cost of bringing into power elements they consider reckless and irresponsible.

Much has been said of the hopes for a two-party system in the South. Eisenhower can invoke that hope. He can appeal to the cavalier spirit of the South; to the strong pride and independence characteristic of that region. He represents the prospect of a program—and perhaps eventually a party—willing to be bold in foreign policy and yet not afraid to be conservative on the domestic side.

It is here that one must consider that meaning of the word conservative—in essence to conserve what is best in America, both past and present, without at the same time refusing to recognize how the physical world has been changed. By any true definition McCarthyism cannot possibly qualify. The latter is a radical movement and at times it must appear frighteningly radical; not only because it threatens individual freedoms hard won through the centuries but because it leaps over courts and law on the assumption that the end justifies any means.

These are things which Eisenhower now on the eve of a great contest must surely be pondering.

WE ARE THE PEOPLE

Initiative Pays Off For Young Conservationist

By JOHN SWANSON
Star Staff Writer

"I just did it to help the farm."

That is the reason one of Nebraska's youngest conservationists and farmers gives for having built with his own time and effort nearly two miles of field terraces and four waterway fills.

Tom Livingston, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Livingston who farm east of Louisville, began getting ideas about putting the family farm under conservation early this year.

He started with a 25-acre field which was to be planted to corn, had it surveyed for terraces by the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, and went to work. Tom didn't have access to whirlwind terracers or bulldozers which most farmers use in building terraces today, but he went ahead with only a tractor and a two-bottom moldboard plow.

☆ ☆ ☆

It was corn-planting time when Tom started down the first terrace line, and he had to work swiftly. Even with his after-hours labor and using the old-fashioned method, he completed some 9,000 feet of regulation terraces in only six days. Then the corn went in—only one week late.

Across a grassed waterway which cuts downhill through the 25-acre field, Tom later constructed four earth fills.

Since the Soil Conservation Service does not recommend the use of plows in construction of terraces there was considerable doubt whether the Livingstons would receive payment for the conservation project. But when SCS engineers inspected the field after Tom's labor they pronounced them perfect and suitable for payment.

(Star Staff Photo)

TOM LIVINGSTON
. . . no access to whirlwind bulldozers . . .

Tom, who will be a senior at Plattsmouth High School this fall, plans to go ahead with a conservation plan for the rest of the 360-acre Livingston farm. Before school opens in September he will have completed conservation work on an additional 30 acres. Putting the entire farm under conservation, he estimates, will take about two years.

Tom is a member of the "Atomic Farmers," a 4-H Club which specializes in tractor and soil conservation work. But he did not do the terraces as a club project. He went ahead with the job even when he may not have received payment from the SCS. As he says:

"I just did it to help the farm."

Breakfast Food

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I am a member of the Junior Chaparral Poets, am in the ninth grade at Irving Junior High and have been writing poetry for a little over a year now. Last spring during Midwestern Senior Chaparral, a poem of mine took first place in the junior division.

I call the following, based upon a fancied situation, "My Father's Breakfast":

My father eats his breakfast
In a funny sort of way,
'Cuz he always has the paper
With his first meal of the day.

He sits down at the table,
To eat his eggs and toast,
But it's really The Lincoln Star
He's interested in the most.

He reads that morning paper
As he quickly gulps his food.
We never dare to speak to him,
So grouchy is his mood.

Then once I came to breakfast
And his face we all could see.
"The paper didn't come!"
(That's what he growled at me.)

School Land Lease Law

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I see by the Sunday paper that they are thinking of changing the school land lease law. As a leaseholder, I am sure it should be changed. Instead of lowering the term of 12 years, it should be raised to 25 or 30 years and give a man a chance to make a little for himself instead of giving it all to the state.

We have owned a lease on 160 acres for 64 years, and have paid $8,093.63. The payments now would in 12 years amount to $3,888.00, and it should be so a lease could renew without competition. One cannot tell when hail or drought will take all, as we have had many of both. We experienced seven straight years of drought when we did not raise enough to pay the interest. If our children hadn't had jobs and helped us, we would have lost it.

If they would sell and put the money in government bonds, they would realize more.

Butler To The Rescue

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Despite the fact that the state board of control has set itself up as the supreme lawmaker of the land and has declared that the federal grant of five dollars per month for the aged on assistance rolls shall go to the state of Nebraska and the general fund instead of the old folks, it remains to be seen whether Congress will accept such congressional nullification. Already the board is hearing something that ought to make faces turn red under the capitol dome! It is keeping discreetly silent and no longer hunting headlines in the daily press. Let this writer quote on the subject from a distinguished and worthy gentleman. He has something to say about what has taken place:

"The five dollars Congress made available from the federal treasury should have been passed on to each member of the old age group in every state. Through some trick, this is not being done in Nebraska. I am making an investigation to find out why."

Who wrote such a statement? Who called the board's razzle-dazzle a "trick?" Why, it was a senator who voted for the grant to the aged of every state. It was Sen. Hugh Butler. He has a right to speak plainly. He was being placed in a false light—that of voting funds from the federal treasury to fatten Nebraska's state treasury rather than in provisioning the old folks! Twenty thousand old folks will cheer the senator along as he goes about unhorsing the state board of control.

Back To The Indians

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: As a taxpayer, I commend you upon your recent editorials on Mr. Erickson and the Nebraska Public Power System.

What does Mr. Erickson care about the public power systems of Nebraska, irrigation, flood control, etc.? Where do the council and Mr. Erickson get their mandate to build an "empire"? Who will foot the bill, the City Hall or the taxpayers? Is this scheme to eventuate as did our water system? How about our totally insufficient street lighting system and the justified clamor of our people for more and better street lighting for security and safety, to which Mr. Erickson nonchalantly replied, "We have a substantial backlog of street lighting requests. They have not been filled due to lack of materials and funds."

If our city government is to function in such a fashion, why not give the works back to the Indians? Would the Indians take it?

More power to you in your challenges. Our taxpayers are with you.

LOST LESSONS

I sit, too late, and envy him.
Because I never learned to swim.
I watch my grandson boldly take
A headlong dive into the lake—
A feat he proudly does—which I
Admit I wouldn't dare to try.

I could have joined a swimming class:
I had the chance, but let it pass.
Of many reasons, first must be:
Swimming seemed difficult to me.
I could have learned but lacked the will
And patience to acquire the skill.

I know it must seem strange to him
That I have never learned to swim.
But I could make a lengthy list
Of other pleasures I have missed
Because to share them seemed to be
A bit too difficult for me.

Excellent Corn Crop Yields Assured In 16 Counties

Good Rain Is Needed Over State

Sixteen Nebraska counties, receiving recent rains ranging from one to two inches or more, are assured of an "excellent" corn crop, according to the weekly crop weather report.

These counties are:

Adams	Madison
Butler	Nemaha
Cass	Otoe
Dawson	Pawnee
Dodge	Richardson
Jefferson	Sarpy
Gage	Saunders
Johnson	Washington

Generally corn, outside of the northern and western dry areas, while needing rain, made satisfactory progress last week, the report said. Aside from the dry areas the bulk of the corn ranges from the milk to the roasting ear stages, with some in the dough stages.

"The bulk of the crop is a little ahead of the average development for this date and far ahead of the corn on this date a year ago," the crop statisticians said.

Most of the corn needs a good general rain, the report commented.

The crop experts said about 20 per cent of the acreage in western and central portions including northern Antelope, Knox and western Cedar Counties which have been damaged by dry weather would still make good ensilage.

Forage Yield Light

Most of this corn will have little if any grain and while the yield for forage will be light the quality should be very good, as the stalk contains the nutrients that ordinarily go into the ear.

"With alfalfa hay quoted from different counties from $25 to $35 a ton serious consideration should be given to the utilization of this drouth damaged corn for ensilage," said Statistician A. E. Anderson.

Hit by damaging storms last week were Butler, Saunders, Sarpy, Cass, Otoe, Johnson and Nemaha Counties with Morrill, Burt, Dodge and Gosper stricken in a lesser degree from hail and winds.

Wheat Land Needs Rain

Not only would rain help the corn crop but it would be of much benefit to a considerable portion of winter wheat land plowed for fall seeding. In much of the western summer fallow wheat area the surface soil is dry. However, in southeastern Nebraska heavy rains have put wheat land in a good soil moisture condition.

Soybeans and sorghums show some improvement but they, too, need more rain in the western area. From the North Platte Valley reports were good on the outlook for dry edible beans, late potatoes and sugar beets.

The report said there is a considerable acreage of corn in the valley and indications are a large percentage will go inso silos, due partly to the high price of hay and need for feed.

Rainfall throughout Nebraska during the past week included:

Re-Check Made Of All Leads In Walla Murder

LA CROSSE, Wis. — (Lincoln Star Special)—Up against what seems to be a stone wall, La Crosse police investigating the murder here of Seward, Neb., National Guardsman Frank Walla have backed up and are re-checking all their original leads.

Residents of the neighborhood in which the 42-year-old Nebraskan's body was found are being questioned again to see if anyone heard or saw anything unusual early last Wednesday morning.

So far, Police Chief George C. Long told The Star, nothing has turned up.

Police are also trying to find someone else who saw the mystery car which a La Crosse woman reported seeing in that part of town early last Wednesday.

She said she saw a man jump from the car and run and some other men leap out and chase him.

Chief Long said it has been "pretty definitely established" that Walla's body was placed in the alley after 3:20 a.m. when a rain fell.

However, no tire tracks or foot prints were found near the scene.

Long said results of tests made of Walla's clothing at the state crime laboratory at Madison have not been completed. He hoped that the tests might indicate where Walla had been.

Fellow guardsmen who were on overnight pass with Walla said he had planned to stay overnight in La Crosse rather than return to Camp McCoy. Officers did not know if he had rented a hotel room.

"We're just double checking everything and hoping for a break," Long summarized.

Tests at the Hoagland No. 1, an offset well drilled after good oil recovery was found in the Foster No. 1 in the Kugler field, have started out disappointing. A drill stem test recovered only salt water.

Japan Tries To Free War Criminals

Top Offenders Cause Hopeless

SUGAMO PRISON, Japan—Japan is pulling on the leash to get its war criminals out of jail. The Foreign Office has asked the United States, France, Australia, the United Kingdom and The Netherlands officially for the parole of 157 war convicts and clemency for 73.

Privately the Japanese are saying that it is time to forget past wrongs and time for forgiveness. Takao Suzuki, vice chief of this prison, said that "it would help United States-Japanese friendship if the United States takes the initiative in reprieving lesser war criminals. They are really not so guilty. They carried out orders."

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, during his tenure as supreme commander, had set up a parole system fashioned after American prison methods. MacArthur released the convicts after they had served a third of their sentences, but the Japanese cannot release the men without the approval of the power that sat in judgment. To all its applications, including the ones submitted to the U.S. State Department, the Japanese Foreign Office has failed to receive any answer so far. Only the French have indicated informally that they favor the parole of 39 war criminals tried by them.

* * *

BESIDES the 922 war criminals serving their terms here at Sugamo, there are about 110 Japanese war criminals in jail in the Philippines and 240 convicted by Australian courts on Manus Island.

Tokyo has petitioned the Philippine and Australian governments to give favorable consideration to the repatriation of these men so that they can serve their sentences in their homeland.

The Canberra government appears to be reluctant to ship the 240 convicts because of the Australian people's fear and hatred of Japan. The 110 Japanese held in Manila have become a political football.

* * *

RECENTLY a Filipino soldier was arrested and tried by a Japanese court for knifing a policeman. The Filipino community in Japan protested loudly and called attention to the 110 Japanese criminals retained in custody, as a political lever.

In contrast to the lesser war criminals, who were convicted of atrocities against allied soldiers or civilians, the 13 major prisoners have little chance of seeing freedom. Convicted of waging aggressive war by the 11-power International Military Tribunal for the Far East, they cannot be paroled until two-thirds of the judging nations assent.

All these are old men in their late 60s, 70s and early 80s. They are filling out life sentences handed to them by the same court that sent Gen. Hideki Tojo to the gallows. They include admirals, generals and cabinet ministers.

Japan's former big shots are living out their days in leisure and contemplation. They read and play Japanese chess and keep diaries.

Railroaders Want Better Old Age Plan

WASHINGTON—Mail coming to Congress indicates railroad workers want two things from their government-supervised retirement system—the right to retire at age 60 on full annuity after 30 years service, and a more favorable base for calculating past earnings.

A committee headed by Sen. Paul H. Douglas, (D-Ill.) is making a study of costs and programs for the next Congress.

There is general agreement that the present system is soundly financed, Robert A. Wallis, director of the survey, says. There also is agreement among interested parties that all the present reserves, amounting to $2,900,000,000, will be needed to pay existing benefit rates to persons now covered

* * *

THE BENEFITS were increased a year ago to a point where they approximately double Social Security benefits. The regulations are not parallel to Social Security rules in all respects.

A railroad worker can retire on a reduced annuity as early as age 60, he becomes eligible for a "full" annuity at 65, and if he works longer he can earn an increased annuity.

The Social Security law, in contrast, offers only a "full" annuity to persons reaching age 65. There is no incentive to work longer.

Congress introduced a year ago a "wives' benefit" and a "survivors' benefit". These also are features of the Social Security law.

* * *

TO INCREASE the revenues of the fund it would be possible to introduce a "work clause" similar to the Social Security regulation that benefits shall not be paid to a person who earns other income.

There is no "work clause" in the railroad retirement law now, and many retired railroad men do hold other jobs. It would also be possible to increase the "tax base" in the railroad law. At present assessments are levied only on the first $300 a month income.

Wyatt Puzzled by Radical Label Hung on Him by Ike

By CHARLES B. CLEVELAND
Lincoln Journal-Chicago Daily News Service

SPRINGFIELD, Ill — Wilson Wyatt shows the same puzzlement over being called a left winger as the average motorist might over unexpectedly getting a traffic ticket while he thought he was driving carefully.

Wyatt

One of his friends has said: "If he's radical, so is Stevenson."

The label, "wild-eyed left-winger," was indirectly hung on Wyatt recently by Gen. Eisenhower.

Officially Wyatt brushes it off as just politics, but one gets the impression that privately Wyatt is puzzled over Ike's attitude.

He recalled that in late 1946 when he was housing expediter Ike sought him out at a private party to compliment him on his work. They met again last January when Wyatt and 14 others visited SHEAF Headquarters in Paris to discuss the defense buildup in Europe.

"Possibly some one around Eisenhower might have made that statement and he carelessly repeated it," Wyatt said. "I doubt if he meant it."

Wyatt classifies himself politically as a liberal with views paralleling those of Stevenson.

On specific issues Wyatt believes unemployment insurance should continue, but he warns that a nation—as well as an individual—can become "over-insured" so that it can no longer keep up the insurance.

On housing he believes the program he headed in 1945 was deliberately given more than its share of tax money because housing then needed a "lift."

On the Tennessee Valley Authority, he thinks it has been an excellent project but not necessarily a cureall for other areas.

Wyatt is strongly opposed to socialized medicine but believes in federal aid to hospitals, clinics and medical schools.

On economy he said he believes in general in the methods of Sen. Douglas (D-Ill)—cutting expenses by weeding out unnecessary details rather than across-the-board cuts.

On the Taft-Hartley Law he believes the law provided some necessary balance to labor-management relationships, and he advocated revision rather than repeal.

One possible reason for the "left-winger" label appears to be his affiliation with the Americans for Democratic Action, which he helped organize.

He still sticks by the theory of the ADA—a group of liberal followers of Roosevelt with the Communists emphatically left out—but acts like an old college grad who goes back to the campus to find a lot of things have happened since he left.

"Some liberals try to figure out how to be good liberals in 1952," Wyatt said. "They decide they were good liberals under Roosevelt. Therefore the answer is to be twice as liberal now. They think if a thing is good, twice as good. They tend to overshoot the mark."

Wyatt's record also tends to dispute the label of a left-winger. He is 46, a former mayor of Louisville, Ky., and an attorney for a number of major firms including Reynolds Metals, Bulova Watch Co., the Calumet Farms horse-breeding concern, Stauffer Chemical, and Jewelers' Acceptance Corp.

"If I were a left-winger," Wyatt comments, "I'm sure they'd get another lawyer. There are plenty of them."

But the big decisions on issues, Wyatt emphasized, are being made by Stevenson himself. As a matter of fact, one reason for Stevenson's brief vacation next week is so he can get away by himself to go over issues and make his decisions.

Republicans Gaining Ground In 15 Large Northern Cities

By GEORGE GALLUP
American Institute Of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—Judging by the first reaction of the electorate in the present "warm up" stage of the campaign, the Republican Party appears to have gained ground in the nation's big cities—vital territory for the Democrats in 1952.

Eisenhower's chances in November depend in part on whether he can cut into the large Democratic majorities in metropolitan areas. All but one of the 17 cities with 500,000 population or more went Democratic four years ago.

Interviewers polled voters in the nation's 15 largest cities outside the South on the following question:

"If the presidential election were being held today, which political party would you like to see win—the Republican party or the Democratic party?"

The vote of those expressing a definite preference or a "leaning" is as follows for the 15 cities combined:

Republican	39½%
Democratic	52½
Undecided	8
	100%

If the undecided were to vote approximately as the rest do, the two-party vote would be:

Republican	43%
Democratic	57

When this is compared with the vote for the same areas in the 1948 election, the Republicans register a gain of about 4 percentage points, as follows:

VOTE IN NORTHERN CITIES OF 500,000 & OVER

Republican	39.3%	43%	+3.7
Democratic*	60.7	57	—3.7
	100.0%	100%

*Includes the vote for the Progressive Party.

General Eisenhower runs about 3 percentage points more popular than his party in the same big city areas.

THE 15 CITIES, which cast a total of more than 10 million votes in the 1948 election, are:

New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, Detroit, Baltimore, Cleveland, St. Louis, Boston, San Francisco, Pittsburgh, Milwaukee, Buffalo, Minneapolis and Cincinnati.

In approximately half the cities the GOP vote amounted to less than 40 per cent—an indication of the tough fight facing Eisenhower if he is to change the situation.

* * *

HERE is the voting record of the 15 cities in 1948, from the lowest proportional Republican vote to the highest:

1948 VOTE IN 15 LARGEST NORTHERN CITIES

	Pct. Rep.	Pct. Dem.	Pct. 3rd Pty

Scares Bear Away

GLENCLIFF, N.H. —William Belyea went fishing in Oliverian Brook but nearly got hooked himself—by a bear. Armed only with a steel fly rod, Belyea failed to drive off the onrushing bear until he barked like a dog. The bear was startled and ran away.

Army Closes Huge Post Exchange, 'Saks Ginza'

TOKYO — The U. S. Army has closed its huge PX (Post exchange) in Tokyo's downtown Ginza shopping district after almost six years of business which grossed more than $65,000,000.

Tens of thousands of occupation troops, their families, Korean War veterans and dependents and soldiers and diplomats from all over the world knew the modern, eight-story department store as the "Saks Ginza."

Even Russian diplomats, in Tokyo with the former Allied Council for Japan, took their wives and children shopping there.

More than 10,000 American-made articles and exotic goods from Japan, China, Siam, India, Egypt and other countries packed counters staffed by 900 Japanese, mostly pretty girls.

In the future the Army PX in the former Japanese finance building in downtown Tokyo will service American soldiers and their families, supplemented by smaller post exchanges on bases throughout Japan.

U.S. Army Seeks To Make Japanese Forget Foreign Troops Still Around

TOKYO (AP) — The U.S. Army has painted most of its automobiles black to make them less conspicuous to the Japanese.

Soldiers stationed here are also being encouraged to wear civilian clothes off duty. Several other minor changes have been made to make the Japanese forget the presence of foreign troops in their country.

New U.S. Army sedans which arrived here after Japan became independent April 28 were already painted black. Automobile dealers say that is the most popular car color among the Japanese.

Painters Busy

Since then, Army headquarters and service units have been repainting their old olive drab sedans.

A public information officer in Gen. Mark Clark's headquarters said the reason for the paint jobs was to "lessen the visual evidence of the presence of U.S. troops."

The houses in Tokyo occupied by American officers and their families are no longer called "U.S. houses." The "U.S." has been painted off the signs in front of the houses, and they are now referred to simply as "House number so-and-so."

Horoscope Factor Helps Complicate Political Scene

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A new political party has been formed in Miami to put a lady with a favorable horoscope in the White House.

It's called the Washington Peace Party with headquarters at the home of Miss Helen I. Hoag, the executive secretary.

Miss Hoag said the party's platform calls for "return to the principles voiced and practiced by our country's founder and first President, George Washington — no foreign entanglements."

The party's candidate for President is Ellen Linea W. Jensen of Seattle, Wash., who according to Miss Hoag, is "a grandmother who has been working for the best interests of our country, without pay—for many, many years."

Miss Hoag said Mrs. Jensen's horoscope was very favorable to her becoming head of the nation next year.

Miss Hoag listed Chief White Eagle of the Cherokee Tribe, also known as Louis C. Morris of Hallandale, Fla., as national chairman of the party.

Excessive Gining— 1½ Cases Per Mile

CHICAGO — Poor mileage on a scheduled trip from Peoria, Ill., to New York City resulted in trouble for Dumont Ashley Parker, a truck driver from Niagara Falls, N. Y.

He set out from Peoria 11 days ago in a giant trailer-truck loaded with 750 cases of gin valued at $20,000 for New York delivery.

When Parker failed to arrive at his Eastern destination, police were asked to watch for him. Cook County sheriff's deputies spotted his truck outside a tavern near the Chicago suburb of Justice.

Officers seized Parker and two drinking pals inside the tavern. They hauled all three to the station for sobering up. Later Parker will have to explain to federal authorities the disappearance of 250 cases of the gin—at a rate of one and one-half cases per mile.

How About Walls That Change Color?

NEW YORK — If you would like to have a panelled wall or ceiling that changes color depending on which way you look at it, the U. S. Plywood Corp. has worked out something for you.

It's a new two-color spray finishing technique for striated plywood panels. The technique boils down to two simple maneuvers. First, the entire panel is sprayed with one of the two colors you'd like to see. After this is dry, the second color is sprayed at a right angle, or 90 degree angle, to the direction of the grooves. The second color hits only one side of the grooves in the panelling.

Look at the panel one way and it's all one solid color. Change your position and you see the other color. It's one quick way of giving your walls an unusual two-color decor, but it works only on striated panels.

Candidates' Views Run Poor Second In Survey Of TV

DENVER—A Denver public relations and polling expert has come up with a new slant on the impact of television.

Dr. Hallack McCord reported on results of a survey made in Denver to gain insight into the attitudes of people toward the presidential candidates.

Many of the persons interviewed, said McCord, were more concerned about the balding pates of the candidates than about their political views.

Charges Of McCarthy False, Paul Hoffman Asserts

Marshall Backed By An Ike Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paul G. Hoffman, a top Eisenhower-for-president adviser, assailed Tuesday as "fantastically false" the accusations Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) has hurled at Gen. George C. Marshall.

Hoffman

McCarthy on June 14, 1951, devoted a 60,000-word Senate speech linking Marshall—wartime chief of staff and postwar secretary of state—with what McCarthy termed "a conspiracy of infamy" to make this country the prey of world Communism.

"I consider the charge fantastically false," Hoffman said Tuesday in sworn testimony for possible use in the trial of a two-million-dollar libel-slander suit McCarthy has filed against Sen. Benton (D-Conn).

"Towering Lie" Claimed

McCarthy in the suit accuses Benton on defaming him with unfounded charges of fraud, perjury and calculated deceit. Benton among other things has charged publicly that McCarthy's speech about Marshall was "a towering lie."

Benton has said his main defense will be an effort to prove his charges was true. His lawyers called Hoffman to back this move and to preserve Hoffman's testimony in the form of a deposition for use in the trial if Hoffman is not available to testify in person.

Hoffman was the first head of the Economic Co-operation Administration, through which the Marshall Plan of aid to Europe was handled. He now heads the Ford Foundation, a philanthropic-educational body.

Tuesday's pre-trial hearing started less than an hour after counsel for McCarthy failed in U.S. District Court here to get a postponement until McCarthy had recovered from a recent operation.

DEMOCRATS

MINOCQUA, Wis. (INS)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson arrived in Minocqua, Wis., Tuesday for a brief vacation and was told by greeters that he was in the heart of "Taft country."

Adlai Takes A Breather

The Democratic presidential nominee smiled and replied:

"I have been in rock-ribbed Republican territory before. In fact, I was brought up in one in Illinois."

The governor will stay in the big log home of Dr. and Mrs. Clark W. Finnerud of Chicago. The skin specialist is a friend of the Illinois governor and a Republican.

It was noted that on a pine chair in the living room of the summer cottage the doctor had placed a sign with these words:

"Reserved for the next President of the United States. Be seated, Adlai."

Dr. and Mrs. Finnerud returned to Chicago Tuesday night.

☆ ☆ ☆

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Lovett proposed Tuesday that the man elected President in November announce his selection of a new defense secretary at once, without waiting until he takes office.

Lovett Has A Proposal

That would allow the incoming head of the Defense Department to sit in on the final phases of preparing the next year's military budget, Lovett told a news conference, and would give him a grasp of the department's problems that otherwise might require a year of study.

☆ ☆ ☆

MINOCQUA, Wis. (INS)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson called off plans Tuesday to make a major farm address when the date conflicted with the scheduled appearance of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Farm Talk Called Off

The decision was announced by his personal campaign manager, Wilson Wyatt.

Officials of the national plowing contest in Kasson, Minn., in a stormy meeting called to clarify a mixup in invitations extended to Stevenson and the Republican nominee, decided that the Illinois governor could not speak the same day as Ike.

REPUBLICANS

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will have a busy schedule after his arrival here for the seven-state Midwest Republican conference Thursday.

Ike Going To Kansas

Details of the conference agenda were worked out Tuesday by Harry Darby, who will direct the activities of the day and preside at the conference.

A plane bringing Eisenhower and party from Boise, Ida., is scheduled to arrive at Fairfax Municipal Airport shortly after midnight Wednesday night.

Republican governors, United States senators, congressmen, national committeemen and women, state chairmen, and other top echelon Republican leaders will attend from Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Iowa, North and South Dakota.

☆ ☆ ☆

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's name will be on the Texas general election ballot in November as a candidate for President, Secretary of State Jack Ross said Tuesday.

Doug To Be On Ballot

MacArthur's name was on a petition of a new party that calls itself the Christian Nationalist party.

☆ ☆ ☆

DENVER (INS) — Gen. Eisenhower will maintain his main headquarters in Denver throughout his campaign, but a special "strategy office" will be set up in Washington by his political chief of staff.

Ike Will Visit N.Y.

This announcement Tuesday by the general's executive assistant, Arthur H. Vandenberg, squelched reports that Eisenhower would transfer his headquarters to New York City for the duration of the campaign.

Nebraskan Will Speak On Aviation Education

Speaking on aviation education in elementary and secondary schools, at a meeting of South Dakota school administrators, will be a Nebraska man, George E. Rotter, supervisor in the Nebraska Department of Public Instruction.

F. B. Decker, state superintendent, said Rotter has been asked by the group to deliver an address later this month in Pierre, S. D.

Rotter will suggest a plan whereby schools may avail themselves of resources which Civil Air Patrol units offer schools "to make aviation education more meaningful in the lives of young people."

Wright Named Field Supervisor of SES

Roscoe E. Wright has been appointed field supervisor of the State Employment Service with headquarters in Lincoln, according to State Labor Commissioner Donald P. Miller.

Wright, 47, has been manager of the Hastings SES office for the past 10 years. He is a graduate of Peru State Teachers College and was superintendent of schools at Grover, Colo., and Huntley, Neb.

$35,000 Suit Filed In Car-Scooter Accident

A $35,000 suit against Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dunlap and Dunlap Brothers has been filed in District Court by Fred Hansen, father of 16-year-old James L. Hansen.

Hansen claimed that his son suffered cuts, bruises, a skull fracture and other injuries as the result of a Feb. 10 collision between a car driven by Mrs. Dunlap and a motor scooter driven by young Hansen. The accident occurred at 29th and Q. The petition claims the car was owned by Dunlap Brothers.

Beck Rules 2 Counties Responsible For Road

Improvement of a mail route road which follows a county line is up to both of the bordering counties, according to an opinion handed down by Attorney General C. S. Beck in response to a question from Taylor County Attorney A. F. Alder.

And it would seem impractical to require that Custer County improve the south half of a one mile county line road and Loup County improve the north half, he explained, even though the legal objectives of the Rural Mail Route Act were that each county pay only for the portion of the road within their county.

Rather than the "impractical" action, Beck recommended that one county improve the west half mile of the road and the other county improve the east half mile, since the same result, "at the same expense and obligation," could be accomplished.

The situation presented to Beck is not provided for specifically in Nebraska statutes, he said, and has never been before Nebraska's Supreme Court. His opinion was therefore controlled by some "fundamental rules of statutory construction," he explained.

Senators Being Polled On Road, Hog Extra Session Possibilities

Two questions faced Nebraska's legislators Wednesday after receiving special letters from Gov. Val Peterson:

1. Do you favor a special session of the Legislature to consider emergency legislation to raise revenue to finance Nebraska highways, with such legislation to be effective for not more than one year?

2. In the event that it becomes necessary to have a special session to deal with the current hog disease problem, would you be in favor of including in the call emergency highway legislation?

Definite "yes" or "no" votes to each query were being requested "as soon as possible" by the governor in letters sent to lawmakers Tuesday.

Editors' Request

A poll had earlier been requested by the Nebraska Editors Highway Conference, originally intended to determine the legislators' attitudes to the special session for considering emergency legislation to raise revenue to finance Nebraska highways.

But with the problem of what to do with Nebraska's more-than 10,000 hogs under quarantine with vesicular exanthema still unsolved, the possibility of calling a special session to take action on that matter was more prominent.

Peterson earlier had said he might include some proposals for dealing with highway legislation in the poll, but said that though he "had several in mind," it "didn't seem feasible" to suggest specific measures at this time.

Simple Bill

Should a special session be called, however, he said he would work to "come up with the simplest, most concrete bill" possible. He added that there would not be time to go into the entire highway problem.

It has been indicated that the most workable types of proposals being considered by the governor are either a special stamp tax of $5, a $1 per wheel tax or a 1 cent gasoline tax increase.

Anticipating answers to the two specific queries put to the state's legislators and with no more definite word received regarding the transporting of Nebraska's quarantined hogs to California, by late Tuesday, Gov. Peterson said he planned to be in Denver Wednesday for the regional meeting of the Missouri Basin Interagency Committee.

But, he told his news conference, if there should be more complications or developments in the hog situation, he will cancel such plans.

Wire Received

The latest development in the hog problem was the receipt of a telegram from the California State Director of Agriculture which read:

Reluctantly will accept hogs if completely free of vesicular exanthema and certified to by Federal Veterinarian.

The wire was verbal confirmation of a telephone conversation Monday between the California official and Nebraska's Director of Agriculture Clay Wright.

No decision from the California packers as to whether or not they will purchase the hogs had yet been received by the governor, however. Verbal assurances that movement of the hogs from Nebraska would be approved was still being sought from federal authorities.

More definite word on these questions asked in connection with tentative plans set up by Peterson and state agricultural officials for "an ideal partial solution" to Nebraska's hog problem was expected to be received within a short time.

'Inefficiency' Exposure Scheduled Soon As House Probers Continue Their Investigation Of Federal Justice Department

WASHINGTON — House investigators agreed to continue their Justice Department probe during the presidential campaign with a new exposure of "inefficiency" expected at hearings next week.

An eight-year-old fraud case which the law enforcement agency marked "closed" a year ago is one of "several matters" to be aired by the House Judiciary subcommittee headed by Rep. Chelf (D-Ky).

The hearings, some of which will be public and some secret, will be the first held by the Chelf subcommittee since Attorney General McGranery took office and injected "new blood" into the Justice Department.

"Inefficiency."

A source close to the investigators said their evidence shows that "inefficiency rather than corruption" was responsible for failure to prosecute in the fraud case. Among other things, he said, there were many instances of "buck-passing."

Next week's hearings will also be the first since former FBI man Robert Collier took over to succeed Stephen A. Mitchell, who was picked as the new Democratic committee chief counsel to succeed National chairman by Gov. Adlai Stevenson.

Plenty Money

Collier is reported to have decided that the subcommittee has "plenty of money" to continue its work well past Oct. 1, the day it was originally scheduled to close up shop.

However, it is expected that the investigators will not hold any public hearings after next week's until the elections are over, but will spend the campaign months quietly digging up new evidence for disclosure later on.

Denying reports that the subcommittee would "pack up" in order to avoid embarrassing the administration, a spokesman declared: "We'll keep on going until our job is done."

Government Files Two Tax Claims Of Million Each

CHICAGO — The federal government has filed tax liens of more than one million dollars each against two Chicago men known to police as syndicate policy game operators.

E. T. Sauber, director of internal revenue, filed the claims against Sam Pardy and Thomas Manno to tie up real estate owned by the two men and their wives.

The claim against Pardy and his wife, was for $1,208,473—representing $730,738 in taxes, $365,369 in penalties and $112,365 interest.

Manno's lien totals $1,207,428 and also names his wife as a defendant. Of the amount asked, $730,092 is for taxes, $365,045 in penalties and $112,291 interest.

Authorities said the claims are the first to be filed against policy operators by the government since the Chicago gambling syndicate began wrestling control of the racket from Negroes after World War II.

Doe And Sons Mix Business With Pleasure

HARVARD, Mass. — Business and pleasure sometimes do mix.

Orlando C. Doe and his sons, Whitney and William, who operate an orchard in the town of Harvard, proved it.

The trio built a pond, eight feet deep and 100 by 120 feet, to facilitate the care of their 4,000-odd apple trees. At the same time, they stocked the water hole with tasty trout.

The pond, which holds a half million gallons of water, was dug with a bulldozer at a cost of about $320. Because the project was listed as land improvement, the Does can sell the top-soil or loam and regain some of the money they spent.

Sale of the top-soil ordinarily would be banned by town law. The statute was passed to prevent stripping of land by opportunists only interested in selling the top grade loam.

The water from the pond is used in syraying the 100 acres of trees owned by the father and sons. Before the pond was built, the trio had to drive 40 miles 15 times a year for 22,500 gallons of water needed for each spraying.

The fish were put into the pond shortly after it was built two years ago and seem to thrive. Springs and rain keep the water supply high. The banks of the pond are lined with rock. The natural clay bottom was left as it was.

The Does said their fire insurance rates have been cut in half since their pond was constructed.

'Housewives Hide Under Beds' Because Of Planes

LOS ANGELES — Los Angeles county regional planning commissioners were told that housewives "hid under beds" and "birds were blown out of trees" because of airplanes whizzing overhead from the privately-owned Bellflower, Calif., airport. The commission took the plea to revoke the airport's license under submission.

Potato Thieves Tidy Up Field Following Raid

VIRGINIA, Minn., (AP)—Raymond Raati, a farmer living near Virginia, went to his potato field the other day to check his crop.

He was puzzled by the great number of foot prints.

Suspicious, he got a shovel and dug around a bit. He discovered someone had stolen a good share of his potato crop, then carefully set the plants back in the ground to conceal the theft.

Koreans In Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Kyodo News Agency says there are 568,000 Koreans living legally in Japan and 467,000 of them claim allegiance to the North Korean Communist regime. Possibly 100,000 more Koreans are in Japan either illegally or have failed to register with authorities.

Building Workers' Pay Near What They Asked

Contracts To Be Signed This Week

Lincoln's three construction workers' unions Wednesday had accepted the terms of a tentative agreement with Lincoln firms and labor-management meetings were going at the task of getting the agreements down in contract form.

The contracts, which give the workers wage boosts ranging from seven and a half to 22½ cents per hour, are expected to be signed by the end of the week, according to Bernard J. Gradwohl, attorney.

The increases still must wait for wage board approval, and applications for that approval are being readied now, Gradwohl said.

Gradwohl said the unions were "very well pleased" with the settlement, which gives very nearly what was asked by the three unions. Approximately 1,000 men are covered.

'Friendliness'

Members of the unions went back to work Monday, although the last of the three voted to accept the agreement only Monday night. Gradwohl said the early back-to-work was a "gesture of friendliness."

The carpenters and painters both received 22½ cents to bring carpenters' pay to $2.35 an hour and painters' to $2.15.

The carpenters get 15 cents effective last Monday, the rest when the wage board approves the hike. The painters will get 17½ cents as of Monday, with five cents effective at the later date.

Members of the International Hodcarriers, Building and Common Laborer's Union, local 540, will receive from seven and a half to 15 cents in raises. The amounts and new total: Mason tenders, 12½ cents, $1.60; common laborers, 15 cents, $1.52½; hodcarriers, 7½ cents, $1.80.

For Whole County

The contracts are for Lancaster County plus Ashland and Palmyra.

All contracts will run until next April 1. Negotiations on the next contract will begin on Jan. 1, 1953. Although wage scales are slightly less than asked, the contract runs for a shorter period than under the original terms asked by the unions.

The contract is with all Lincoln members of the Nebraska Associated General Contractors. Several independent firms signed contracts earlier in the strike, some of them at higher scales than with the AGC contracts. Gradwohl announced that those contracts would be revised to avoid any penalty to the companies that signed earlier with the unions.

Gradwohl pointed out that although the laborers' union raises were less, those workers received raises of 12½ cents under an agreement reached last September.

Other special points in the contract included double time for overtime work for the carpenters, and a 25-cent an hour differential for foremen in all classifications.

The carpenters, who got 22½ cents, had asked for 15 cents plus five-cent raises every six months for another 15 cents. The painters, who had asked 25 cents, got 22½ cents. And the classifications under the third union had all asked 15 cents and got from seven and a half to 15.

In the case where only seven and a half was granted (the hodcarriers), the new scale is seven and a half cents higher than the Omaha scale. The common laborer and mason tender classifications are both now equal to the Omaha scale, and the painters lag five cents behind Omaha and the carpenters seven and a half.

Mrs. J. M. McDonald was elected president of the Lancaster County Women's Christian Temperance Union at the annual convention Tuesday at the YWCA.

Other new officers:

Mrs. F. L. Troup, vice president.
Mrs. Alice Vickers, treasurer.
Miss Carol Sack, recording secretary.
Mrs. Nelle Putney, corresponding secretary.

Past president Mrs. Ella Pritchett conducted the meeting highlighted by an address by County Attorney F. H. Wagener.

Wagener told the WCTU members that "alcohol is often a causative factor in cases involving family abandonment, desertion, non-support, and check offenses."

He said, "Seventy-five per cent of the cases which come into the County Attorney's office and are turned over to the adult probation officer have a background of drinking."

The County Attorney explained the setup of his office, the importance of inquests and autopsies, and the statutory responsibilities of his office.

A memorial service was conducted by Mrs. Perry Colbert. Morning sessions were devoted to business matters of the organization.

Mrs. Anderson Rites Thursday

MRS. KENNETH E. ANDERSON

Funeral services for Mrs. Kenneth E. Anderson, 33, lifetime resident of Lincoln who died of polio Monday night, will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, Rev. W. A. Cross officiating.

Mrs. Anderson, who was hospitalized Friday, was Lancaster County's seventh polio fatality this year.

The former Martha B. Beghtol, she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max V. Beghtol of Lincoln. On Oct. 10, 1940, she was married to Kenneth Anderson, who is now associated with the Beghtol and Rankin law firm.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska, she also attended the Emma Willard School at Troy, N. Y. She was a member of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church and was also a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority and Lincoln Junior League.

Surviving besides her husband are a daughter, Daphne; three sons, David, Robert, and John; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max V. Beghtol of Lincoln; a brother, Robert Beghtol of New York; and two sisters, Karen and Clare Beghtol, both of Lincoln.

Burial will be at Wyuka.

Judge Must Decide Between Cruelty, Boy's Imagination

Whether a 10-year-old boy has strong imagination or his stepfather is unusually cruel to him will have to be decided by acting juvenile Judge John L. Polk.

The boy and his mother appeared in Juvenile Court Friday, after the boy had been found to be running away from home. He had asked to stay at a house in Lincoln's suburbs and said he was running away because his stepfather was cruel to him and frequently beat him without provocation.

The step-father and mother appeared in court Tuesday. He said that he whipped the child sometimes, occasionally using a belt, but that the child deserved a whipping sometimes. He said the child had a wild imagination and was making up most of the story.

He said the child had told some neighbors that his mother's sister was in a penitentiary for murder, which was untrue. He said the child frequently screamed loudly even when being reprimanded.

Judge Polk ordered further investigation of the case.

Waverly Service Station Breakin Proves Unfruitful

Sharp's Service Station in Waverly was broken into for the second time in ten days early Tuesday, but the prowlers apparently got no money.

Manager Harold Sharp said that the west garage window had been opened with a crow bar. The cash register and several drawers were searched, but nothing taken.

The station was also entered on Aug. 9, when thieves took $175 in cash and equipment. Entrance was gained by using a bar on one of the doors.

Hats Aid in Identification Of Criminals

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Police departments all over the country are taking their hats off to Frank Reeves' hats-on method of criminal identification.

"The most progressive step in police identification procedure in 50 years," is the way some experts describe it.

Reeves, who is a Louisville professional photographer, has invented a method of putting hats on police photographs of suspects, that makes it easier for witnesses, in some cases, to make positive identification.

The police departments of Camden, N. J., Huntington, W. Va., and Cleveland, O., are among 42 others throughout the country that use his method of criminal identification.

The "hat identifier" is the result of Reeves' habit of "hanging around police stations for the last 18 years."

* * *

HE BECAME fascinated with the scientific identification section of police work some 20 years ago when he worked as a police reporter for a newspaper in Lexington, Ky.

"Time and again," he said, "I'd see witnesses hesitate over a photograph of a suspect. They'd say that they thought he was the man but they couldn't be certain because he was wearing a hat when they saw him."

After considerable study, Reeves came up with his hat identifier as the solution to the problem.

* * *

THIS IS the way it works:

Front and profile pictures of more than 120 styles of hats, caps, tams and other headgear are mounted on a large sheet of transparent plexiglass.

First, the witness identifies the type of hat the suspect was wearing. Then the hat is placed over the photo of the suspect's head. Reeves makes the hats to fit the head size of photographs used by the different police forces using his device.

Irrigation Is Key to Expanded Dairying in West, Experts Say

WASHINGTON — At least two experts ..... it possible to boost dairy production in the West by 30 per cent between now and 1960.

Albert H. Harrington of Washington State College and Wendell Calhoun of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics combined their efforts to review the dairy picture in the West in relation to the anticipated continuation in the area's population growth.

* * *

THE TWO see as the controlling factor in increased production the future development of irrigation projects. Only with more water can more feed be produced for more dairy cows.

However, production of milk on present farms also is expected to increase during the rest of this decade.

The study does not see this potential increase in production as a threat to dairy farmers in the Midwest and other areas. That's because most of increased amount of milk, butter and cheese is expected to stay in the West to feed the expanding population.

In fact, the two experts said poential consumption may outstrip production so that more dairy products would have to be brought into the area than is now the case.

A lot more would have been needed during the past decade except for the 20 per cent decline in the amount of dairy products consumed by each person.

Reds Closely Censor Mail

BERLIN — A Frankfurt newspaper says 37,000 persons and organizations in Eastern Germany are on a list of those whose every piece of mail must be censored by the Communist "People's Police."

Spot checks are the rule for the rest of the zone. Thirty-seven full-time censors are required in the Thuringian city of Erfurt alone, it says.

Essen Thrives Without Krupp Arms Factory

CHICAGO—The mighty armaments city that equipped two great German war machines is reported again thriving—but not on weapons.

Essen, once famous for its Krupp Munitions Works, is said to have achieved full employment on a basis of peacetime industry.

This assertion was made by Dr. Josef-Walter Hollatz, in charge of building, reconstruction, planning, and landscaping for the Essen city council.

* * *

HE WAS in Chicago as group-leader of 10 West German public city officials here to study planning and building under the guidance of the Mutual Security Administration.

"All the Krupp Munitions Works of Essen have been removed," said Dr. Hollatz.

"There are no unemployed in Essen.

* * *

"THIRTY-FIVE industrial plants of different kinds, from textile mills to appliance factories, stand where the munitions factories used to be."

The Krupp interests now make locomotives and automobiles, he said.

Jobs have been found in Essen for some 10,000 refugees from Soviet-dominated territory, he reported.

Moreover, he added, Essen has set itself the task this year of rebuilding 12,000 homes in the suburb called Altendorf, which was destroyed in the war.

Lots To Talk About

AND A GOOD Morning to you, too—and there's plenty that's good about it, socially speaking—There is an attractive young guest in our midst and that means, of course, that the young set is busy with informal courtesies—We still have August brides for whom numerous courtesies have been planned—Have other news, too—about people going here and there—or entertaining for one reason or another—or just staying home and having fun—special fun on next Saturday evening at Hillcrest Club—we'll tell you about it later—

* * *

RIGHT NOW we want to pass on that word that Miss Kathi Graham of Kansas City is in town—The attractive young guest arrived Monday evening and during her several days stay here will divide her time between Miss Cynthia Morgan—whose guest she has been until today—Miss Colleen Farrell—Miss Kitty Lilly and Miss Sarah Carveth—

Monday afternoon all members of this young feminine group were to be found in the pool at the Lincoln Country Club—

And Monday evening Miss Cynthia Morgan was hostess at an informal picnic at her home, to which members of the neighborhood young set were invited, as a courtesy to Miss Graham.

JUST HAPPENED to think of something else—Miss Morgan takes off today for DuBois, Wyo., where she will spend a few days as the guest of a former St. Mary's Hall classmate, Miss Caroline Mockler—

Miss Morgan, as you probably already know, will attend the University of Nebraska this year.

* * *

SKIPPED ALONG to chat with one of our brides, Miss Joan Carveth, whose marriage to Larry McKee is to take place on Wednesday, August 27—Anyway, Miss Carveth told us about the coffee for which Mrs. A. G. Schimmel was hostess on Tuesday morning at her home when she entertained 16 guests—The bride-to-be was presented with a pottery shower.

* * *

ON THE LATE week calendar is another courtesy for Miss Carveth, a 10:30 o'clock coffee and a miscellaneous shower—with Mrs. Oliver Brown and Mrs. George Healey the hostesses—at the home of Mrs. Brown.

* * *

FLIPPED A few pages in our little red book and noted that Friday, August 29 is courtesy day for another soon-to-be bride, Miss Cecelia Brady, who is to marry Robert Cather. On that particular date Miss Brady will be honored when Mrs. John Cox entertains nine guests at a "What-you-can't-do-without" shower.

BUT, AS IS often the case, there are courtesies that have no romantic tinge—For instance, there is the coffee this morning for which Mrs. Ben Rendell will be hostess at her home when she entertains a group of neighbors at a 9 o'clock coffee. The affair is more or less a get-acquainted party for one of the new members of the neighborhood group, Mrs. Howard Cather Sr.

* * *

AND NEXT SUNDAY, so we hear, is Clarke Faulkner's birthday anniversary, and in celebration of the event Mr. and Mrs. Richard Joyce are entertaining members of the family at an informal supper at their home—

We think we should tell you that last Saturday when Irvin Rosewell and Willard W. Folsom were the honorees at a party for which the Rosewells and the Folsoms were hosts and hostesses, there was another birthday celebrant among the guests—Mrs. Joyce—but no one knew it—

* * *

HEAR THAT Howard Wilson is plane-ing off on Thursday for Los Angeles and Balboa Beach, Cal., for a week-end visit with his fiancee, Mrs. Louise Baker, and her family. Mr. Wilson will return home on Tuesday.

THERE'S TO be—Oops—can't squeeze in another line, so we'll tell you about it tomorrow—

A Guest Threesome

Spending several days in Lincoln are Mrs. Max Foresman and her two daughters, Sara—seated on the arm of the chair—and Susan, who arrived from Kansas City last week to be the house guests of Mrs. Foresman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Sartor. Our four-footed friend, Fricka, seems to be pleased with everything — the guests — the photographer, and the idea of having a picture in the paper.

Wedding On Sunday

Miss Kathleen Alga Coffey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Coffey of Blair, became the bride of W. Eugene Flynn, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Flynn, also of Blair, at a ceremony which was solemnized late Sunday afternoon, Aug. 17. The Rev. Homer L. Dickerson read the lines of the 4 o'clock service at the First Methodist Church in Blair.

Miss Harriett Scott, organist, played the wedding music and, as the one hundred fifty guests assembled, accompanied Mrs. Kathleen Morrison, vocalist.

Miss Jean Anne Smith of Blair, frocked in aqua marquisette and lace, was the maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Joan Coffey of Blair, wearing mint green and dusty rose taffeta. Miss Mary Lippincott was the flower girl, and ringbearer was Richard Coffey.

A gown of white marquisette and Chantilly lace was worn by the bride for her wedding. Brief sleeves and a portrait neckline accented the fitted basque of lace, and the lace was repeated in vertical panels to trim the full marquisette skirt. A calot of satin, edged with seed pearls, held her veil of French illusion.

Williams Tripp of Blair, served Mr. Flynn as best man, and the ushers were William Walker of Blair and Clay Kennedy of Brownville.

Following the reception, held at the church, Mr. and Mrs. Flynn left for a two weeks' trip to New York, after which they will reside at Blair.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska, Mr. Flynn is a former student of Dana College and a member of Alpha Gamma Rho. The bride has attended Nebraska Wesleyan University and is a member of Phi Mu.

One, Two, Up-And-Over

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Not even billowing skirts can hide the plight of the damsel with fleshy thighs that bounce with every step and bulge the moment she's seated. Tightening up the muscles and trimming down the flesh are her only route to figure beauty. And here's a dilly of a routine to do just that! In a half dozen weeks of daily performance, you'll be proud of your progress. In another half dozen you'll look back on your bulging days as just a memory to be forgot!

New Contours

1. Lie on your back with knees bent, soles on the floor and arms stretched out at shoulder level. With a twist of the waist, slap your thighs from side to side against the floor, keeping your legs so relaxed that the inside of the thighs slap together with each change of direction. Repeat twenty-five times.

2. From the same starting position, raise both legs off the floor until your toes point to the ceiling. Fling them so they brush and cross each other. Criss-crossing, repeat twenty times. Relax and return to standing position.

3. Now raise your right leg up as high as you can; then twist it outward until your foot is in profile. Maintaining this position, lower your leg very slowly to stretch out on the floor. Come back to starting position and repeat with the left leg. Alternating sides, perform twenty times.

No Bounce, No Bulge

Now, let's work on taking the bounce out of your thighs as you walk. Stand with your feet and knees together, weight on balls of your feet, knees slightly bent. For three minutes, pull your knee caps upward. After practice, they will come up an inch! For another three minutes, coax the fronts of the thighs outward in opposite directions, always keeping the inner thighs pressed together.

Church Weddings Are Solemnized

SPEH-FULK

The marriage of Miss Ardis Elaine Speh of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake W. Speh of Alcester, S. D., to John Welsh Fulk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth B. Fulk of North Platte, took place Tuesday evening, Aug. 19, at the Big Springs Baptist church at Alcester. The Rev. M. W. Demming, pastor of the Lincoln Seventh-day Adventist church, read the lines of the 8 o'clock service in the presence of three hundred guests.

Lighted white candles and gladioli in the autumn tones decorated the chancel, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. William L. Ericson, organist. Ray Lawrence Anderton, vocalist, was accompanied by Mrs. Ray L. Anderton.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Russell Lee Anderson of Tulare, S. D., who wore a full-skirted gown of copper satin fashioned with a flaring cape-collar covering the strapless bodice. Her mitts were of satin, and she carried a crescent bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums and ivy leaves. Frocked identically in pale gold satin and carrying bouquets of gold-toned roses and chrysanthemums were bridesmatrons, Mrs. Robert Gaul of Balaton, Minn., and Mrs. Eris W. Kier of Lincoln. JoAnn Kier of Lincoln, wearing sea green satin, was the flower girl, and carrying the Bible was James Heiman of Alcester.

Chantilly lace and satin in the magnolia shade fashioned the bride's period gown. A scalloped collar and long fitted sleeves designed the molded basque of lace which continued into a widely flaring peplum. The full satin skirt ended in a train, and a bonnet brim of illusion patterned with seed pearls held her veil of French illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis centered with gardenias.

Kenneth Kane Fulk of North Platte, served his brother as best man, and the ushers were Noel R. Fulk of North Platte, also a brother of the bridegroom, Russell L. Anderson, Tulare, S. D., Ed Heiman, Alcester, S. D., and Eris K. Kier, Lincoln.

Following the reception at the church, the couule left for western trip and will later reside in Lincoln. The bride attended Union College, Lincoln, and Mr. Fulk is a former student at Doane College, Crete.

MRS. JOHN WELSH FULK

MRS. BOYD L. ARMSTRONG

MRS. PAUL E. WOOD

FRIESEN-ARMSTRONG

Mr. and Mrs. Morace Baker of Stromsburg, announce the marriage of Mrs. Baker's sister, Miss Orpha Friesen, to Boyd L. Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Armstrong of Lincoln, at a ceremony which took place Sunday afternoon, August 17, at the Bethesda Mennonite church at Henderson. Two hundred guests attended the 4 o'clock service, at which the Rev. Aaron R. Friesen, brother of the bride and pastor of a Baptist church at Kansas City, Mo., officiated.

The church was decorated with white gladioli and tall white candles, which were lighted by Miss Marlene Friesen and Miss Donna Friesen of Marquette. Mrs. J. J. Jansen, pianist, played the wedding music, and also accompanied Miss Elaine Martin, vocalist.

Wearing a gown of lavendar net over taffeta was the matron of honor, Mrs. E. Paul Ruth of Reedley, Cal., who carried a nosegay of lavender asters and daisies. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Lee Paulsen of Lincoln, and Miss Melba Wittmack of Shickley, wore alike frocks of green net and taffeta and carried green-tinted asters and daisies. Miss Orpha Dee Baker of Stromsburg, was junior bridesmaid and wore lavender net, and the flower girl was Miss Pamela Wiens, frocked in white taffeta.

For her wedding, the bride wore a gown of white satin designed with a deep net yoke framed with Chantilly lace. Long sleeves completed the fitted bodice, and the lace motif was repeated in the trim of the full skirt which ended in a train. Her lace-edged veil of illusion was held by a coronet of satin and seed pearls, and she carried a bridal bouquet of white asters and carnations.

Serving as best man was Glenn F. Bowers of Lincoln, and the ushers were Bill Owen and Roy Chrastil, also of Lincoln. Thomas Mierau was ringbearer.

A reception was held in the church parlors after which Mr. Armstrong and his bride left for a wedding trip to the Black Hills, S. D. The couple will reside in Lincoln.

MUMMA-WOOD

At a double ring ceremony solemnized Friday evening, Aug. 8, at the Christian Missionary Alliance Church, Miss Beverly Jean Mumma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William N. Mumma, became the bride of Paul E. Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wood of Lima, O. White gladioli and smilax, and lighted white candles formed the background for the service, the lines of which were read by the Rev. Norman Oliver.

Miss Wilma Riener, organist, played the wedding music, and Miss May Riener accompanied Paul Andreas, who sang preceding the ceremony as the candles were lighted by Miss Phyllis Schiedler and Mrs. Eva Patterson.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Miss Janis Mumma, and the bridesmaids were Miss Joyce Mumma, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Earl Steiner of Fond Du Lac, Wis., sister of the bridegroom. The attendants' alike frocks were fashioned of nylon net over taffeta in pastel shades of yellow, pink and blue, and they carried bouquets of pastel-toned daisies. Wearing blue net was the flower girl, Kay Evangeline Lovelace, and ringbearer was Kent Ellsworth Lovelace, both of Denver, Colo., and cousins of the bride.

Earl Steiner of Fond Du Lac, Wis., served as best man, and the ushers were Winfield Mumma, brother of the bride, and George Miller of Lima, O.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of White Chantilly lace and tulle over satin. A high throatline and long sleeves accented the lace-over-satin bodice, and the full skirt of tulle tapered into a train. A coronet of satin and seed pearls held her illusion veil, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white daisies and carnations.

A reception for 125 guests was held at the church. Following a wedding trip to Arizona and Colorado, Mr. and Mrs. Wood will reside at Upland, Ind., where the bridegroom is completing his theological studies at Taylor University. Both are former students at the St. Paul Bible Institute.

Ceremony At Cushing

White candles burning in pedestal candelabra, and arrangements of pastel-toned gladiola, appointed St. John's Lutheran Church at Cushing, for the marriage of Miss Donna June Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ames B. Peterson of Cushing, to Edward E. Husmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Husmann of Ogallala, on Sunday afternoon, August 17. The Rev. Eugene Wekander read the lines of the 2 o'clock service.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Vaughn Peterson, pianist, who also accompanied Mrs. Dale Johnson who sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because."

The matron of honor was Mrs. Herbert Seever of Sidney, and bridesmatron was Mrs. Jack Jurzenski of Cushing. Mrs. Seever, in pale green, and Mrs. Jurzenski in pink, wore alike frocks of nylon sheer fashioned with off-shoulder bodices, and full, tiered skirts worn over hoops. They completed their costumes with wrist corsages of orchid-toned carnations. Frocked in pastel yellow and blue net over taffeta were the flower girls, Sally Lynch of St. Paul, and Peggy Aye of Hastings, cousins of the bride, and lighting the candles were Miss Rose Marie Kalkowski of Ogallala, and Neal Lynch of St. Paul, also a cousin of the bride.

William Schabacker of Minden, served as best man, and the ushers were Richard Husmann of Ogallala, brother of the bridegroom, and Vaughn Peterson of Cushing, brother of the bride. Ernest Husmann, brother of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

White Chantilly lace and satin fashioned the bride's period gown. Long sleeves ending in points over the hands, and an off-shoulder yoke of tulle designed the fitted lace bodice. The lace formed a wide panel down the front of the flaring satin skirt, which tapered into a train, and a twisted bandeau of lace held her illusion veil. She carried a white Bible ornamented with a single orchid frilled with lace.

A wedding reception was held at the Legion Club in St. Paul, followed later in the evening by a wedding dance held at Cushing. Upon their return from a wedding trip to the Black Hills, Mr. and Mrs. Husmann will reside in Lincoln, where the bridegroom is a senior at the University of Nebraska. He is a member of Pi Kappa Phi fraternity, and "N" Club.

Introducing—

Mr. And Mrs. Edward Dean

The Deans formerly of Sioux Falls, S. D. are new residents in Lincoln where Mr. Dean is vice-president and division manager for the gas company here. Their usual summer diversions have been left temporarily by the wayside while they try to get their new house in order, they hope soon to be settled at 3140 South Twenty-seventh street.

Both Mr. Dean and his wife are natives of Owensboro, Ky., near Louisville, but it is generally agreed that the hunting is not as favorable there as in South Dakota, nor the fishing as auspicious as that in Minnesota! In addition to stalking his prey, Mr. Dean enjoys golfing and may occasionally be found clearing a path through the weeds in the garden to make his green thumb more conspicuous.

As does her husband, Mrs. Dean loves to read and takes a great interest in her home. In Sioux Falls, where most of one's entertaining and living was done at home, they met a number of families who were later to move to Lincoln. . . so the Deans are not as complete strangers as they might be. Their outside activities took place mostly at the Sioux Falls Country club, where Mrs. Dean liked golfing particularly. A "little bit of everything" was a special hobby of hers, and they hope to attend both the baseball and football games this year. She has not been too active in civic work, since the war, but did more than her share of auxiliary work during those hectic years.

The Deans are fond of Lincoln, because they have visited here a number of times and much prefer a smaller city that has as many advantages of metropolitan life as we have. Minneapolis was convenient, and grand for shopping, but they shudder at the thought of trying to fight one's way through the crowd during the busy hours.

Although the most immediate goal is to hang draperies, lay carpet and become settled in general, The Deans hope to become active in the Baptist church here. They like to travel together, but for the time being, are content to enjoy the lovely move they have made to Lincoln.

Yugoslav Worker, Farmer Systems Little Different From Russian Ones

VIENNA, Austria — Workmen and farmers under Tito are confined by a dictatorship of production little different from other Communist systems, according to the Worldwide Society of Free Unions.

Tito's pretensions to a system better than Moscow's are blasted in a confidential report sent to 71 members of the ICFTU, the international of free unions.

Yugoslavia still maintains forced labor camps, less crowded than in Stalinist countries but enough to make up a prison population greater in proportion than Democratic countries, the unionists found.

* * *

CITING YUGOSLAV criticism of their own system, the observers pointed out that in three big factories the white collar "non-productive" bureaucracy ranged from 41 per cent to 52 per cent of the employes.

Tito's four types of farmer's cooperatives, where peasants "voluntarily" combine their lands, are organized by coercion, it was charged. The Communists, as in Stalinist countries, use the courts to slap unpayable, confiscatory taxes on peasants who refuse to join.

"The trade unions of Yugoslavia have about 1,700,000 workers who constitute about 85 per cent of the total number of workers. All unions are affiliated with one national center, controlled by Communists. Workers are not permitted to organize trade unions of their own choice."

* * *

THE JUDGMENT—slammed the door on past efforts by Alois Bebler, Yugoslav U. N. member, to find an opening for Tito's unions to enter the free unions. The Yugoslav unions were expelled by the Communist-dominated World Federation of Trade Unions a year after Tito's break with Stalin.

Western trade unionists get the Red carpet treatment in Yugoslavia as part of Tito's efforts to sell his Communism as something special, the observers found. They receive "all kinds of information favorable to the regime, but usually little opportunity to obtain information from workers who are critical."

* * *

IN TITO'S STATE, as in Russia, workmen can express complaints if shop committees fail to hold meetings and if efficiency is impaired by corruption, it was found. Governmental newspapers print these complaints. But Tito's claims to have achieved an employe representation comparable to a free union are unfounded.

The employes are actually bound to a "very simple formula, i. e., they have to fulfill the production plans dictated by the regime at a maximum cost fixed by the Communist government." Employes have no collective agreements" and "Yugoslav unions have never called a strike in spite of the very low standard of living."

* * *

TITO'S CLAIM is that membership in the Communist National Union is "voluntary." But actually the "voluntary" members are favored with state privileges like cheap rail tickets and summer vacations which are denied to the non-members. The non-members in the Communist labor monopoly "have to do the hardest work for comparatively low wages."

Tito's tame unions acquiesce in laws whereby a worker must stay at one job "for a least six months and sometimes several years." They have yielded to the government's "new payment system which does not provide equal pay for equal work."

Tito, despite his unshaken Communist principles, may yield more bargaining power gradually to the Yugoslav wage-earners, it was conceded. But Yugoslavia's membership in the free unions seem excluded by the ICFTU manifesto "condemning the tyranny of Communist, Fascist, Falangist and any other totalitarianism," including capitalist monopolies.

Hormone Sprays Can Injure Plants

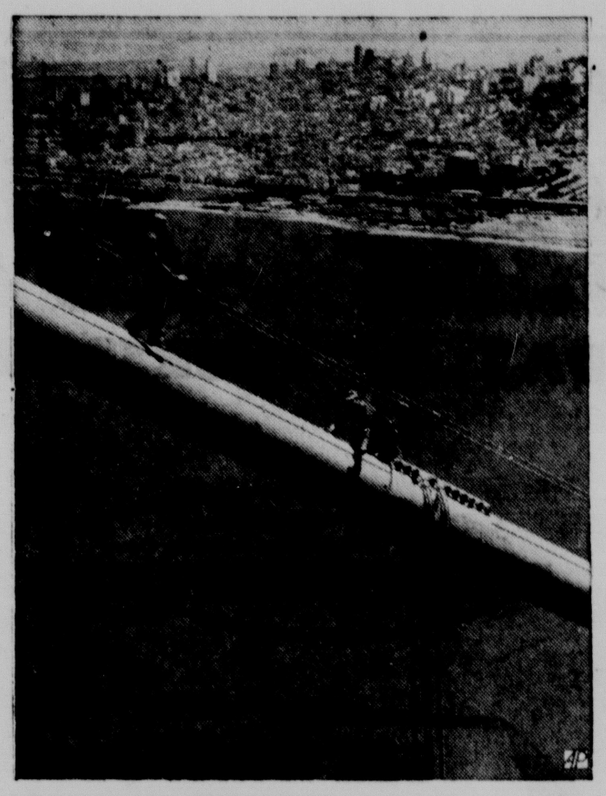
GENEVA, N. Y. — Hormone brush killers can injure or kill many crop and garden plants touched by the merest trace of the chemical, Dr. Otis F. Curtis warned in a publication put out by the state agricultural experiment station here.

"As little as one one-hundreth of the normal brush-killing dose can seriously damage grapes, tomatoes, cabbage and its relatives and vine crops," Dr. Curtis cautioned.

He advised that care must be exercised to avoid drift of the spray toward these crops and warned that sprayers used for applying brush killers should not be used for spraying crops.

7 Pennies Worth Nickel

WASHINGTON — A judge ruled that seven cents are worth a nickel if the pennies are placed on top of a parking meter. A motorist, without a nickel to pay for parking, stacked seven pennies on a meter. He received a parking ticket but it was dismissed by the judge.



AT WORK IN THE SKY—California bridge painters, their safety belts attached to hand ropes, work on the Golden Gate Bridge main cable high above San Francisco Bay.

First Hitler, Then Stalin Jail Walter for Listening to Radio

By DAVID M. NICHOL

BONN, Germany—History must seem like a wicked joke to a carpenter from a village in the eastern German province of Saxony.

Just about 10 years ago "Walter G," as he has been identified, was summoned before the most dreaded of Nazi tribunals, the people's court.

"You are an enemy of the people," the murderous judge, Dr. Roland Freisler, told Walter. "You have listened to the Allied radio. Six years!"

Walter was hurried off to Buchenwald. Somehow he survived that grisly concentration camp until the Americans arrived near the end of the war in 1945.

* * *

THEN WALTER returned to his home village and picked up his trade. Probably he was only vaguely aware at first that the Americans had withdrawn and turned over the region to the control of the oncoming Soviet army.

Walter wanted nothing of politics. He didn't join the government (Communist) party. He didn't even apply for the special privileges which were given to Hitler's surviving victims. He just built tables.

Keeping out of trouble was more difficult than it appeared, however. One would think Walter would have received a medal for his show of resistance to the Nazis. Instead, he was listed as a "convicted criminal" in the police registers of Eastern Germany. He was to be watched specially. That would teach him to remain aloof!

* * *

THIS SUMMER Walter once again was before a people's tribunal.

"You are an enemy of the people," said the judge. "You have listened to the Allied radio. Ten years!"

Walter was hurrried off to Sachsenhausen, which differs importantly from Buchenwald. Buchenwald has been made into a memorial for Hitler's victims. The Communists have retained Sachsenhausen in its original form, as a concentration camp.

Proposal for 'Pacific NATO' Expected on French Initiative

PARIS—Before the end of 1952 Washington may get a diplomatic query as to tohe possibility of transforming ANZUS into a regional organization for the Pacific such as NATO is for the North Atlantic.

Apparently on an understanding with London, French diplomats are currently considering an initiative in that direction with an eye to the ANZUS Defense Military Council, organized last week at Honolulu. The new body has scheduled its initial meeting for Pearl Harbor within the next 60 days.

* * *

ARTICLE 8 of the three-power (Australia-New Zealand-United States) San Francisco treaty which says the alliance can be so extended and transformed was inserted at French behest. The request was made during the Paris visit of John Foster Dulles which precided the signature of the Japanese peace treaty.

The French aim was to underscore the fact that ANZUS was the nucleus of a wider regional organization which could eventually include France, Britain, Holland and Portugal.

* * *

THIS COUNTRY is vitally interested in any discussion dealing with the defense of Southeast Asia. It is far less interested in the rearmament of Japan and the utilization of Japanese forces for such defense.

The French accuse the Japanese of having sown the seeds of discord in Indochina before they evacuated it in 1945. There is nothing they fear mode than Japanese return there even allied with the free world.

Businessman Pays Fast

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass. — Clement E. Kennedy, hotel owner, who always pays the taxes on his New Ocean House within 24 hours of the time they are assessed, beat his own record this year. Fifteen minutes after the bill was presented, Kennedy handed the tax collector a check for slightly more than $25,000.

Romberger Is Dutchman At Dike As A's Win, 2-1

Phils' Robin Roberts In 20th Victory

(From Press Dispatches)

Philadelphia seems to have a monopoly on this year's 20-game winners.

Robin Roberts of the Phillies joined Bobby Shantz of the Athletics in the two-oh class Tuesday night as he turned back the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10-5. Roberts entered the charmed circle for the third straight season.

Roberts, first National Leaguer to reach that figure this season, won his ninth in a row and his 10th straight over the Bucs. The strong-armed right-hander was aided by a six-run rally by his mates in the sixth off Rookie Ron Necciai.

The big blow was Willie Jones' three-run homer.

Sore-backed Sal Maglie, making his second start since July 16, hurled the New York Giants to a 5-0 shutout over the Chicago Cubs as the Giants swept a double-header from the Bruins. They took the second game, 3-1, on a two-run homer in the seventh by Bob Thomson.

Preacher Roe, another "invalid," tossed his first complete game in almost two months as the league-leading Dodgers blanked the Cincinnati Reds, 3-0, in the first part of a twi-night twin bill.

But Cincinnati came back to take the night game, 5-3, and reduce the Brooks' National League lead to 6½ games over the Durochermen.

And the St. Louis Cardinals weathered a ninth-inning storm to down the Boston Braves, 7-5.

In the American League, 34-year-old righthander Marv Grissom of the Chicago White Sox tossed a seven-hitter to defeat the New York Yankees, 3-1.

But the Yankee lead remained at two games as the Boston Red Sox defeated the Cleveland Indians, 6-5, snapping a five-game winning streak by The Tribe.

Philadelphia swept a twi-nighter from Detroit, 4-3 and 6-5, and Washington downed St. Louis, 2-1.

LHS GRID HOPEFULS — Nearly 100 returning lettermen, certificate winners and newcomers to Lincoln High football got the word from Coach Bill Pfeiff at this orientation meeting at the Oval Tuesday afternoon. In addition to briefing the newcomers on practice procedure, the rotund mentor of last year's state champion club told the boys that positions on this year's team will be "wide open," owing to losses of key men through graduation. (Star Photo.)

Competition 'Wide Open' For LHS Gridiron Berths

By WAYNE PANTER
(Star Sports Staff Member)

"WE'RE looking for young blood," Lincoln High School Football Coach Bill Pfeiff told a group of nearly 100 returning grid lettermen, certificate winners and incoming sophomores at a special orientation meeting at the LHS Oval Tuesday afternoon.

Ted King

"Competition for berths on the team will be wide open," Pfeiff told the group, pointing out that one of this year's prime objectives is to build a nucleus around which to form teams next year and the year after.

Last season's state champion team, which was the best club to wear the Red and Black since 1929, sported a swift, single-wing generated offense built around the ability of fleet-footed Ted King and a handful of superb blocking backs and canny linemen.

While All Stater King will be back in LHS moleskins this season, along with a number of other capable performers, graduation left some gaping holes in the ranks.

Two other All-Staters—Fullback Bill Debus and Guard Sylvester (TD) Mendoza—who contributed immensely to the Links' successes, are gone, along with End Jim Miller, Tackle Don Lehl and Center Dick Beechner, all of whom were mainstays in the line.

Graduation took from the backfield Bill Harm, who burgeoned in late season to an average of over 12 yards gained per carry; Bob Northup, an excellent passer and fine runner who teamed with Debus well in the blocking back role; and C. W. Perry, another stellar blocking back.

On the other side of the ledger, Pfeiff can count on the services of 11 lettermen, in addition to King, current owner of the all-time LHS scoring record of 106 points.

Heading the contingent will be LeRoy Butherus, who won All-State acclaim at an end position, and his companion wingman, Bobby Barnett, who called the signals for last year's club. Barnett received All-State honorable mention.

Tackles include Dean Stoneman; Bob Ford, Larry Kimmel and Jack Scanlon lend strength to the roster of guards. Center Jerry Gilbert rounds out the list of returning linemen.

In the backfield are Don Erway, who was a virtual equal of Debus last year as a punter; Dick McWilliams, who shared much of King's ball-carrying duties and was among the team's top scorers; Don Sladek and Ronnie W. Johnson.

Despite having lost key players in every position, Pfeiff feels that with his returning veterans and the help of some capable lads off Coach Harold Scott's reserve club Lincoln High can again field a fine football team.

Butt the search is still on for capable "young blood," the lads who next year can take over first-string duties and fill in the gaps left in this year's varsity by the departure of many of last year's standouts.

The Lincoln High School schedule:

Sept. 12—At Omaha Central; 20—at Sioux City East; 26—at Beatrice.
Oct. 3—Northeast; 10—Scottsbluff; 17—Omaha North; 24—Omaha South; 31—at Alliance.
Nov. 7—at Grand Island.

Overhauling THE NEWS

By WALLY DeBROWN

For years there have been predictions that some day the U.S. would have a woman president . . . and each convention time we seem to be getting closer to it. This year Mrs. India Edwards and Judge Sarah Hughes were nominated for the Veep's job by the Democrats. Both the ladies bowed out with a smile . . . but it still marked a high tide point for feminine hopefuls. It was the first time the "weaker sex" had gotten more than a kind word from the speaker's stand. There are a lot of arguments as to whether a woman would make a good president . . . but we won't have to get involved in them for another 4 years. . .

The ex-president of the Am. Sunbathing Association says nudism would promote peace, "because if soldiers wore no clothing you couldn't tell which ones were enemies." That's getting down to bare facts.

CV Grid Gear Will Be Issued Thursday

Football gear will be issued to College View grid aspirants Thursday at 9 a.m. instead of Wednesday morning as had earlier been planned, Viewman Grid Mentor Tom Gillaspie said Tuesday night.

Players have been slow in getting physical examinations out of the way at the Hilltop school and the additional day's delay will allow them more time to get the forms back in the hands of school officials.

Gillaspie said that he expected to issue equipment to more than sixty boys at the school Thursday morning.

Mangini Singles In Trew To Nip Colorado Springs

By NORRIS ANDERSON
Sports Editor, The Star

AL ROMBERGER, hard luck pitcher of the Lincoln A's, was the little Dutchman at the dike Tuesday night as Manager Les Bell's Sherman Field hustlers shaded the league-leading Colorado Springs Sky Sox, 2-1.

All the Dutchman from Pennsylvania did was toss a tidy six-hitter at Skipper Don Gutteridge's Sky Sox, frantically trying to keep a lead over fast-closing Denver and Omaha.

For Romberger, who has lost 17 games, many by hairline margins, the sweets of victory were doubly sweet. Along with winning No. 9, Dutch decisioned fireballing Connie Johnson, 6-foot 4-inch Sky Sox star who at 16-6 ranks with the Western League's mound elite.

Joe Mangini

Johnson, 194-pound Negro with a motion of purest rhythm and just enough wild stuff to keep the customers loose, set the A's down with five singles. Trouble was that the A's put three of those together with a walk for two runs in the fifth inning.

Bobby Gardner, a much improved gentleman with the willow now that he's changed his batting grip, started the surge with a single to center. After Tom Trew walked and Bill Stewart singled through shortstop, Danny Holden pulled Gardner home with a long fly to center.

Joe Mangini, who started out as a softball star on the Philadelphia lots, then became the prize swatsmith of the evening. Joseph nailed one of Johnson's swifties on the nose for a sharp single to left. Trew scurried home with what turned out to be the game-winning run.

Colorado Springs' lone counter was unearned. Al Jacinto, the pesky 5-foot 6-inch second baseman, made it around in the first inning on a single, an error by Romberger and Ken (The Pest) Landenberger's sharp single to right.

Romberger never allowed a man past second after that first frame.

Until the fifth, the A's had frittered away men on base in the first, second and third innings.

Desperate to keep his Sky Sox atop the league pile, Gutteridge will toss Dick Strahs against the A's ace, Ed Hrabcsak (11-4) in the finale of the two-game Sherman Field series tonight at 8 o'clock. Strahs, 195-pound righthander, tossed a no-hitter at the A's earlier in the season at Sherman Field.

Pueblo arrives at Sherman Field Thursday night for a two-game stay.

Footnotes . . . Prize catch of the evening was Romberger's stab of Johnson's murderous liner in the seventh . . . Holden's fly to the rightfield wall in the ninth would have been a homer, except for a 10 mile south wind . . . Danny had a lumberyard full of wood on the blow . . . Umpire Keith Myers was worced to leave the game in the fourth after he caught one of Billy Shantz's pickoff throws in the left eye off first base . . . The ball was deflected off Mangini's glove . . . Myers reported no serious damages except a swollen face . . . In the stands: Ed Dancisak, scout for the Boston Braves, and Congressman Carl Curtis from Minden . . . Pitcher Johnson proved himself a hero on one point—he's one of the few pitchers seen at Sherman Field this season who don't delay an appearance at the plate . . . The A's may pass the 50,000 mark in home attendance tonight . . . Counting the 1,170 patrons Tuesday night, the A's have drawn 48,727 . . . Special events before the game produced these winners: egg race, Mangini; accuracy throwing, Hairston; egg throwing, Lincoln (Gardner and Holden); distance hitting, Stewart; sack race, Rose.

The Firing Line

Regarding Sherman Field In 1953

AN ideal flashed across The Firing Line the other day. Before we lost the thought, we dashed off a letter to Arthur H. Ehlers, general manager of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Our idea was this. Wouldn't Bobby Reynolds of Husker football and baseball fame be a grand addition to Sherman Field in 1953? We told Art of Reynolds' friendship with Bobby Shantz, of his desire for a professional baseball career and of what we thought of his abilities.

Ehlers promptly answered:

Dear Norrie:

I want to acknowledge your recent letter regarding Bobby Reynolds, although I have not seen him play. I have had lots of good reports on him. I spoke to Bobby Shantz and have asked him to drop Reynolds a line.

I believe with us Reynolds would have the quickest chance of going to the major leagues, possibly a year in Lincoln and then he would be able to come with us here in Philadelphia. That is the thought I would like to get over to him.

If he is not going back to school I would like to take him to spring training with the Athletics at West Palm Beach and then send him to Lincoln for the 1953 summer and the next year, keep him with us here provided of course that he could make the club.

If you would pass this along to him, I would appreciate it.

Very truly yours,
ARTHUR H. EHLERS
GENERAL MANAGER
PHILADELPHIA ATHLETICS

UNDER the energetic Ehlers front office generalship, abetted by the fiery Jimmy Dykes on the field, the A's are far ahead of previous years in attendance. At this writing, the A's are only eight and a half games out of the American League leadership.

It looks like a marked revival at 21st Street and Lehigh Avenue in Philadelphia, the site of Shibe Park and home of the poppa A's.

Put two young fireballs like Reynolds and Shantz together and those pennant days might someday soon return to Shibe Park.

Ehlers' reference to "next summer" at Sherman Field means that he has noticed the surge in attendance (near 50,000 with 15 nights left).

Mr. Reynolds' appearance in the uniform of the Lincoln A's would certainly not hamper future gates. What his competitive fire would do to any professional baseball team would be interesting.

Bobby Reynolds

Whether the A's sign the Husker All-American will be mighty interesting. But it's even more encouraging to know that the Philadelphia front office is already thinking of Sherman Field in terms of 1953.

Elks Clip Las Cruces, 5-4; Reach Tournament Finals

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—The Lincoln, Neb., Elks Tuesday night eliminated Las Cruces, N. M., from the Regional American Legion Junior Baseball Tournament, coming from behind to win, 5-4.

Lincoln, beaten once in the double elimination tournament, thus won a ticket to the finals Wednesday night against unbeaten Denver.

Should Lincoln win Wednesday, another game would be necessary.

The Elks trailed 4-1 going into the seventh inning when three runs brought them even with Las Cruces. The runs came on three hits and three errors.

The game was cinched in the eighth when John Beideck singled and Pitcher Jack Glover walked the next three men, walking in the winning run.

It was Lincoln's second win over Las Cruces. The Elks beat the boys from New Mexico 2-1 Sunday night in the opener.

Lincoln's only defeat in the tournament was by Denver, the same club it meets Wednesday. In that one, Denver got a shutout on some terrific pitching, 5-0.

The honor of sending in the winning run went to Bill Frazer, who subbed for Dick Cecil. With one out and the sacks loaded, he struck at the first pitch and then watched four balls go by.

The New Mexico club tried hard to rally in the final inning and got two men on base. But Salvador Rosales was caught in a run-down between second and third for the final out.

'Mad Russian' Accused Of Molesting Youngster

CHICAGO (INS)—A wrestler known professionally as "The Mad Russian" was seized Tuesday by police who said they found him in his Chicago hotel room with a 10-year-old girl.

The man, Leon Kirilenko, denied molesting the child after she had accused him of kissing her.

Kirilenko said he took the girl to the room after buying sodas for her and two playmates at a drugstore near her home, and that he was merely showing her a scrapbook.

JOINS LHS STAFF—Harry Kuklin, who served as a member of the Lincoln High School coaching staff during the late 1930's, has been named to coach Lincoln High swimming and tennis teams during the coming year. Kuklin will also coach 9th grade football at Muny this fall. (Star Photo.)

Harry Kuklin Joins LHS Coaching Staff

A familiar face will reappear on the Lincoln High School coaching scene this fall with the return of Harry Kuklin to the LHS staff. Kuklin was a member of the staff during the years 1936-37 and again from 1939 to 1941.

Kuklin will assume the duties of head swimming and tennis coach at the Red and Black school. A former Big Six diving champion (1934 and 1935), Kuklin coached swimming and assisted in football at Lincoln High during his earlier tour of duty.

Kuklin will also be in charge of the newly-instituted ninth-grade football program in the city's junior high schools.

After leaving Lincoln in 1941, Kuklin spent five years teaching in the Canal Zone. He returned here in 1946, and has been in business in Lincoln since that time.

Youngster Breaks Mark In NA Trapshoot Test

SPRINGFIELD, O. (AP)—Ronald Person, 14-year-old son of the sheriff at Columbus, Nebraska, broke 195 of 200 targets Tuesday to take the sub-junior title in the 53rd Grand American Trapshoot.

It was the best score ever shot in the event—for youngsters under 15-years of age.

Young Person fired a 99-96—195.

Jack Alexander of Shreveport, La., was second with 193 and third place was tied at 191 by Max Kohler of Tacoma, Wash., and Tom Turpen of Evansville, Ind.

Rudy Etchen who has won practically everything at the roaring grand, was tied at 200 straight by F. D. Daily of Fremont, Neb., who Monday won the father-son title with his son Bill.

Etchen broke another 100 straight in a shootoff. But the 51-year-old Nebraska farmer, who has won his state title three times, missed on the 86th clay to give Rudy the championship.

Mrs. Frances King, who recently became a grandmother, won the women's North American Clay Target Championship with a score of 97-100—197.

Miss Iva Pembridge, school teacher from Phillipsburg, Kan., was second with 98-98—196. Mrs. Julius Petty, mother of six from Stuttgart, Ark., who won three championships Monday, defeated Mrs. King of Atlanta, Ga., in a shootoff to win two of them, finished far down the list Tuesday.

Both Mrs. King and Miss Pembridge won their state championships this year, Mrs. King with 200 straight and the Kansas girl with 199.

The junior title for shooters 15 to 17 years old went to 16-year-old Bob Autrey, of Atlanta, who has been shooting only two years. He scored 98-99—197 to finish one target ahead of Paul Kozowski, of Oconomowoc, Wis. George Genereux, of Saskatoon, Sask., was third with 193.

Yale Will Take To The Air—Olivar

NEW HAVEN (AP)—Jordan Olivar assumed his new duties Tuesday as successor to Herman Hickman and Yale football entered a new era.

Olivar, Yale's 29th head football coach, told newsmen at his first press conference since appointment, that Yale would be an interesting team to watch this season—a team that's going to be aerial minded.

Olivar's appointment as Hickman's successor was announced a week ago. Hickman quit for a public relations job with a cigar company the previous day.

Terrific Luck, Irons Give Stranahan Seattle Golf Win

SEATTLE (AP)—A magnificent burst of luck and some equally magnificent short iron play carried Frank Stranahan past his first and perhaps his biggest obstacle in the National Amateur Golf Championship Tuesday.

The Toledo spark plug heir conquered Chuck Kocsis of Detroit, 3 and 2, in the big match of the second day's play in the 52nd title tournament at the Seattle Golf Club.

Stranahan played good golf, sometimes superb, but the fact that he got the breaks on three holes of the back nine made it certain that he would avoid last year's fate, when he was beaten in his first match.

Thus Stranahan joined such other favorites as Harvie Ward of Tarboro, N. C., the current British Amateur champion; Walter McElroy of Vancouver, the Canadian titleholder, and Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., three-times runner-up for the U. S. title, in the third round. They all won their matches.

For 12 holes, the Stranahan-Kocsis duel was anybody's game, with Stranahan holding a one up lead.

Then everything turned in favor of the Ohioan. His iron shot off the tee on the 185-yard 13th went astray and was heading out of bounds when it hit a tree and bounded back onto the fairway. Stranahan chipped up and sank a 12-foot putt for his par three. Kocsis was trapped. Then his eight-foot putt hit the back of the cup and bounced out.

Kocsis slammed his drive out of bounds on the 14th and lost that to Frank's birdie four. Then on the 16th, needing to win the hole to prolong the match, Kocsis sent a too-long drive into a pond and had to take a penalty for dropping out. He got a half, but it wasn't enough.

Arnold Blum of Macon, Ga., who eliminated Ken Silvestri in the first round Tuesday, and Marion Sonny Hiskey, conquerer of ex-champion Sam Urzetta, both won their second matches.

Blum beat Frank Hoover of Bakersfield, Calif., 3 and 1, and Hiskey, from Twin Falls, Ida., beat Chester Gordon of Seattle 2 and 1.

Intensified Bombing Aims To Counteract Red Trick

WASHINGTON — Military leaders say that intensified United Nations bombing of enemy supply depots in Korea is designed to counteract a successful Communist truck-supply maneuver.

Officials explained that the Chinese Communists are using from 30,000 to 50,000 Russian trucks to move ammunition to front line positions at night in an effort to reduce the danger of air attacks.

Despite constant U.N. vigilance, they said, the Chinese have built up their stocks and they are now able to sustain large-scale artillery fire for a long time.

As a result, one spokesman said, the U.N. has changed its tactics. Instead of concentrating on the trucks, aircraft are blasting supply dumps, which, according to intelligence reports, are directly behind enemy lines.

Report Released

The Army released a report showing that 82,996 artillery and mortar shells fell on United Nations positions during the week which ended Aug. 13.

The week's total, made up from a daily count kept by each of the front line command, constitutes an all-time record for enemy artillery. As recently as last winter, enemy shells rarely totaled more than 1,000 a week.

A spokesman said the record week of fire was built up gradually and that there are other reasons to believe it represents a permanent increase in the enemy's capability rather than a seven-day spurt of unusual effort.

Figures included in the Army's report showed that, through June and July, enemy artillery maintained an average of between 40,000 and 45,000 rounds a week, and that on one previous week in June the Communists fired 71,000 shells.

Effect Small

So far, there is no indication in U.N. casualty reports that the stepped-up enemy barrages are having much effect.

American casualties have increased from about 250 to between 500 and 1,000 a week, but the trend has been attributed to intense fighting for such positions as "Old Baldy," and "Bunker" and "Siberia" hills rather than to the plethora of shells being lobbed over static frontiers.

The spokesman said the Communists appeared to be spending ammunition in a way that has been outlawed as wasteful on the Allied side—firing at random without having previously spotted a target through air or ground observation or from the reports of prisoners or refugees.

Air Award Given To Texas Jet Pilot

TOKYO — Col. David Schilling, who led the recent historic jet flight across the Pacific to Japan, has been honored with the annual Air Force Association Flight Award for 1952.

A Far East Air Force announcement said Col. Schilling was selected as the individual "who has done most for United States air power in the past year."

Col. Schilling, a native of Leavenworth, Tex., received the Harmon International Trophy Award in 1951 as the outstanding flier of that year.

The announcement said it was doubtful if Col. Schilling, currently serving in Japan with the 31st fighter escort wing he led across the Pacific, will be able to attend ceremonies in Detroit, Aug. 30, to receive the award.

In 1948, the veteran pilot led the first jet fighter crossing of the Atlantic. He received the Harmon Award for a record-breaking jet flight from England to the U. S. in 10 hours, five minutes.

He holds 39 decorations and in the Second World War was credited with 23½ "kills" in air to air combat.

Rosenberg Says Europe Service Conditions Better

WASHINGTON (AP) — Assistant Defense Secretary Anna Rosenberg says the "good but not plush" living conditions of American servicemen and their families in Europe and North Africa have improved in the past year—but are still not as good as they should be.

Mrs. Rosenberg, just returned from an inspection tour of the area, told a news conference that the greatest need is for facilities to keep servicemen occupied during off-duty hours.

Anthropologist Finds Skeletons He Believes Are 1,000 Years Old

POINT PELEE NATIONAL PARK, Canada (AP)—A University of Toronto anthropologist has unearthed seven 1,000-year-old American Indian skeltons in a common grave here.

Prof. J. N. Emerson found the skeltons in the course of his professional work. They were buried he said, about 900 A.D. and therefore pre-date most other known Indian burials in Canada.

The teeth were well-preserved but showed signs that the Indians suffered many of the tooth ailments common today.

Point Pelee National Park is a 3,000-acre area near Windsor, Ont.

Mounting Refugee Horde Worrying West Germans

43,000 Flee Red Section In Past Year

BERLIN (AP)—West Berlin is beginning to worry that its proud role as a haven for refugees is being used by the Communists to spread chaos.

Forty-three thousand Germans have fled the Russian zone this year and made their way to West Berlin. July hit a new record with a total of 13,800.

The flight in July was originally tabbed as a spontaneous revulsion from the East Zone's abrupt swing into outright and complete Communism in all walks of life, plus the threat of conscription for the Red German army.

New Picture Emerges

West Berlin interrogation teams, spending long hours in the refugee camps, are piecing together a different picture now. They note significantly:

1. The average age of the latest crop is much higher than in the past. Some are as old as 75. Thousands are between 50 and 60.

2. A majority told the teams which "screen" them for political reliability that they had been told they would receive pensions, or compensation in some form, from the West Berlin authorities.

Unpleasant Conclusions

The screening teams reach several conclusions.

One, they say, is that it is obvious the Eastern Communists are deliberately trying to coerce Germans they regard as useless to slip into the West.

Another is that the Reds have particularly encouraged the older generation, usually too set in their ways to adopt Communism, to leave.

The net result has been an almost intolerable burden on the sagging West Berlin economy.

Underground resistance movements based in West Berlin view the refugee stream with concern from another angle.

See Future Threat

Their leaders contend that the very existence of many thousands of East Germans, now Johnny-come-lately to the West, is a distinct threat to them.

No screening, they say, is adequate enough to detect if a Red policeman has fled out of anti-Communist sentiment or if he actually has been sent on a mission.

There are more than 3,000 former Red policemen now accepting the haven of West Berlin. The anti-Red groups regard them with a jaundiced eye, and have warned their people to be on the alert against any "Trojan Horse" coup which could take the form of kidnaping, assault, or merely espionage.

Snakes Fascinating Creatures In Opinion Of Reptile Keeper

PHILADELPHIA — Mrs. Sarah Cunius, of Philadelphia, like so many other mothers, put her foot down when her 13-year-old son wanted a snake for a pet.

But unlike the other mothers, Mrs. Cunius explained that "I know who would have to take care of it, and I have enough of that all during the day," and she meant it.

Mrs. Cunius is one of the two keepers of the reptile house at the Philadelphia Zoo — the first member of her sex to hold a reptile keeper's position in this country, according to curator Roger Conant.

She looks upon the job as all in a day's work.

"I was pretty scared at first," she admits, adding that "I'd never handled any of the animals before, although I'd worked for the zoo three years managing one of the refreshment stands."

Likes Her Work

When she got the offer, she was flabbergasted, but after talking it over with her husband, she decided to give it a try. Now she has no idea of quitting.

It was difficult at first. She says it took several days before she could muster up enough courage even to touch one of the snakes.

She explained that the lizards and turtles were no trouble at all, describing them as "very good natured and not at all dangerous."

Little by little, however, she got used to the snakes too, and finally held one in her hands and let it coil around her arm.

"They feel the same as it would feel to rub your own hand against your arm—perfectly dry and clean," she said. "They won't bite you unless you bruise them."

Bruise Easily

But she added significantly:

"They bruise easily though. You have to be careful when you handle them not to squeeze them too tightly or frighten them by a sudden sound or movement."

Mrs. Cunius pointed out that not all snakes are poisonous, and those that are are handled only with hooks.

"The main thing," she said, "is not to let them know you're afraid. You can go in their cages to work and they won't bother you as long as you don't disturb them."

That's exactly what she does. Each day she cleans out the cages, checks to see that the snakes are in good health and feeds them.

Biggest snake of the lot is the rock python, a boa constrictor measuring 19 feet 2 inches long. Then comes the anaconda, a 16-foot, five-inch snake that weighs 135 pounds.

Mrs. Cunius takes the snakes in stride, but has developed a fondness for the turtles.

"They're very gentle and they seem to get to know you after a while," she said.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

QUIRKS

WHEELING, W. Va. — A horse race bettor dropped dead at Wheeling Downs while waiting at the cashier's window to be paid off on a pair of $2 wagers.

Clutched in the victim's hand were a winning daily double ticket worth $18.20 and a ticket on Tiny Git, which paid $9.20 to win the fourth race.

The coroner said he died of a heart attack.

DETROIT — A period usually means the end of a sentence, but in the case of two Detroit youths it meant the beginning of one—in jail.

They tried to cash a forged money order and the small store owner immediately called the cops who asked how they expected to cash a $10,000.50 check.

"$10,000.50," they cried, "we thought we made it out for $100.50."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How To Work It

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Profit Taking Sends Most Grains Lower

CHICAGO (AP) — Profit cashing and some liquidation sent most deliveries of grain downward Tuesday at the Board of Trade.

The selling, which gained fair momentum after mid-session, was said to be due to lack of fresh buying incentives. Wheat was stubborn on prospects of new export business, but with a bumper crop in prospect in North America, considerable selling developed. At the finish wheat was ⅝ to 1¼ lower, corn was ⅜ higher to ⅜ lower, oats were ¼ to ⅝ lower, rye was 1⅜ to 2¼ lower, soybeans were ½ higher to 1¼ lower and lard was 10 to 25 cents a hundred pounds lower.

New Plans Being Developed to Meet Need for Adequate Retirement Income

By the Associated Press

How to make ends meet after retirement is a terrific problem to millions of Americans. It affects those in retirement, those who approach it, industry, labor unions and the financial world.

After pensions became widespread, millions of people looked forward to relative security in old age, even though their incomes would be much reduced. Then the country entered a period of inflation. Today many find it difficult to meet the rising cost of living on pensions.

As a result, changes are being made. Many companies have increased employe retirement benefits and hundreds more are investigating ways of doing it. Some have liberalized pensions at considerable increased cost. Some have adopted savings plans and deferred profit sharing plans, both designed to pay off during retirement.

A DESIRABLE retirement income including Social Security is 40 to 50 per cent of average salary for the last five or 10 years of work, experts say.

Pension plans are financed in a number of different ways. Some companies deposit funds under contract with an insurance company. Others establish trust funds, generally managed by banks. Still others pay pensions out of current income.

The cost of pensions and the pressures of inflation have combined to quicken interest in common stocks as investment possibilities for pensions funds. Their advantage is an expected higher yield; their disadvantage a greater risk.

Insurance companies are, for the most part, severely limited by state laws in what they can invest in common stocks.

A NEW experiment uses common stocks as a possible inflation hedge and as a means of increasing pensions. The experiment was launched by the Teachers Insurance Annuity Associations of America, founded by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. It has 65,000 pension policy holders from 600 educational institutions.

The Association operates a subsidiary fund which invests in common stocks. If a policy holder wishes, up to half of his annuity payments can be invested in the common stock fund and thus he gets a life maturity of fixed dollar value, plus dividends which vary depending on the performances of common stocks.

Savings plans also are studied by a number of different companies.

THE COMPANIES which have savings plans generally have pension plans too. They usually work like this:

The employe puts a certain percentage of his paycheck into the fund each month. The company also contributes—sometimes in cash, sometimes in company stock.

The savings fund is administered by a trustee, and sometimes placed in a savings account. The employe has a choice of investing in defense bonds, company stock, or in an investment trust.

Although the savings fund is intended primarily for retirement, most companies permit the employes to draw on the account after a specified length of time.

Deferred profit—sharing plans operate in thousands of firms. Such plans allot employes a certain percentage of profits in addition to regular pay and, often, in addition to pensions and other benefits. Each employer's share is held in trust and paid when he retires or leaves the company.

Successful Author Was Poor Student

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — A Southern Illinois University English teacher says Robert Lewis Taylor, author of six successful books, was one of her poorest students.

"Once when asked to write something," Mrs. Mae T. Smith recalls, "he turned it into a wild conglomeration of impossible situations that had not the remotest connection with the assignment.

"His paper was returned fairly blushing with red ink, the recollection of which makes me do the blushing now. I've wished many times since that I had kept that zany story. It would be worth a tidy sum now in the hands of his publishers."

Old Fish Barge Gets Face-Lifting

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP)—A former fish barge has had a recent face-lifting—it's now half a pirate ship.

The barge was remodeled by Vin Taylor, set dresser, and D. Steele, lighting technician, for use in marine films.

Fishermen who have delivered catches of albacore to the barge wouldn't recognize the vessel, Taylor said. Its freezer house is now a replica of a ship's bridge, complete with wheel, mast, shrouds and ratlines.

London's Buses Just Don't Bump

LONDON—Why don't London's buses have bumpers?

Edward Bonny, a London passenger transport board inspector, said that was one of the questions Americans asked most during the 12,000-mile, five-month goodwill tour the buses recently completed in the United States.

Bonny's answer, he said, was: "We don't bump."

He thinks Americans must decide one day whether to allow public transport or private cars in their big cities.

"There isn't room for both," he says.

Favors Beer Diet

GREAT BEND, Kan. —Frank Marque credited his pipe and a bottle of beer a day for his longevity. At his 100th birthday celebration Marque, a one-time Canadian lumberman, said moderate beer drinking adds years to life.
